LaJoy bill draws heat from local districts

BY TONY BRUSCATO
STAFF WRITER

As state Rep. Phil LaJoy, R-Canton Township, introduces a bill to increase state per-pupil funding for Plymouth-Canton Schools and five other districts in the state, neighboring school districts want to know why they aren't included in efforts to stave off the financial inequities of Proposal A.

LaJoy's House Bill 4828 would increase the state foundation grant by $750 for school districts that are performing well academically and administratively, and surrounded on three sides by school districts that receive state funding that is at least $1,000 more per pupil

For Plymouth-Canton, that would mean about $13 million in additional money for the general fund budget because it is surrounded by Livonia, Northville and Ann Arbor schools, all of which have state foundation grants more than $1,000 above Plymouth-Canton's $7,200.

However, some school administrators want to know why they are being left out.

"Everybody should get a change," said Wayne-Westland Superintendent Greg Baracy. "Phil LaJoy should be working on closing the gap between school districts, not introducing legislation that creates more of a divide between school districts."

"We lose 300 kids a year, that's $2.5 million," added Baracy. "Where's the equity there?"

Livonia Superintendent Randy Liepa, whose district is faced with declining population and the closing of school buildings, believes any new legislation should carry more weight than just comparing academics,

DDA puts money where the football is for Super Bowl

BY CAROL MARSHALL
STAFF WRITER

Though gambling on sporting events is illegal, the Canton Township Downtown Development Authority is betting big money the township can help make the 2006 Super Bowl a success.

Sports lovers from all over the country - and from the greater Canton area - will have the opportunity to eat White Castle burgers and rub elbows with NFL stars and local celebrities during an NFL-sanctioned charity event at Super Bowl Lanes bowling alley on Ford Road in Canton Township.

"I think this is an excellent opportunity to introduce Canton to the rest of the world," said township trustee Melissa McLaughlin at a Wednesday morning Downtown Development Authority meeting.

The DDA threw its support behind the event when it unanimously voted to donate $15,000, and the use of the DDA's portable stage, to help the bowling alley host the two-day charity event. The money will be used to procure a heated tent large enough to hold 300-400 people. The bowling center will also need to set up bleachers in its parking lot, though Roger Philipi, director of operations for Community Bowling Centers, has tried to discourage the NFL organizers from that idea.

Of course, there will be themed parties and first-class festivities during the two days of bowling events, but the menu requests from the NFL have so far surprised Philipi.

"They have specificly asked for White Castle hamburgers," he said. "They really want local flavor at these things, so they want White Castle, Vernors and Better Made potato chips."

The event will draw attention from national media, including ESPN, which is one of the sponsors of the Super Bowl XI NFL Charities Bowling Classic. Proceeds will be donated to the NFL Youth Education Town initiative in Detroit. As its legacy to every Super Bowl host city, the NFL builds a YET center in an at-risk neighborhood where young people are offered counseling, career training, learning opportunities, academic mentoring and recreation, according to the NFL.

Celebrities will include current and former NFL players, and members of the Pro Football Hall of Fame, said Philipi, though he would not name names just yet.

The thrill of bowling with the stars won't be cheap, though. Individual spectator tickets will run $100 each. Participants will pay $750 per person to bowl in the tournament, and team packages are available for $5,000 and $12,500.

The NFL's goal is to raise $150,000-$200,000 during the weekend charity events in Canton, but Super Bowl Lanes General Manager Mike Refitt said he hopes to raise in excess of $200,000.

"We want to show that a bowling charity event is every bit as profitable, maybe even more, than the traditional golf event," he said.

Wine tasting draws largest crowd in 7-year history

BY CAROL MARSHALL

Though being among friends and wearing the perfect dress in which to mingle were certainly elements of a great evening out at Friday's A Toast to Canton event, it was Charlotte Potes' wine find that had her the most excited.

"This is just great," Potes, of Canton, raved about the 2004 Altos malbec she found, affordably priced under $15.

"This is just great," she said of the wine. "The event is very nice this year too, because there's room to mingle."

It was the event's seventh year, and it was also its first sell-out. Proceeds benefit the Canton Rotary, Leadership Canton Alumni Association Scholarship Fund and the newly created Police and Fire Emergency Fund.

"I'm not sure exactly how much we raised yet, but it's approximately $10,000," said Debbie Zevalkink, who helps coordinate the event.

Youth orchestra

The Celebration Youth Orchestra (CYO) will be presenting a concert at 7 p.m., Thursday, Dec. 6, at the Village Theater at Cherry Hill, 50400 Cherry Hill Road in Canton. Tickets are $5.

The CYO is the youth orchestra supported by the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra and is conducted by Ariel Toews, the Plymouth Symphony's assistant conductor. The orchestra is comprised of two ensembles - the Celebration Strings and the Celebration Sinfonia. The group debuted in fall 2003 for orchestral musicians ages 9 and up. The CYO is dedicated to challenging and inspiring students through high level ensemble training and the performance of standard and new repertoire.

The Celebration Youth Orchestra is presented with support from the Westland Community Foundation, and the Canton Community Foundation. It is part of the Plymouth Symphony's Youth Outreach Education Program, which will impact more than 5,000 students this year. Donations to the Symphony's No Kid without a Concert Education Campaign help fund the CYO as well as many other programs for students throughout southeast Michigan.

Tickets are $5 and can be purchased by phone or in person at Summit on the Park, (734) 394-5460, by phone or in person at the Plymouth Symphony Office, (734) 451-2112, or at the Village Theater box office one hour before the performance.

For more information please contact the Plymouth Symphony office at (734) 451-2112 or by e-mail at info@plymouthsymphony.org.

Big-screen football

The Committee to Re-elect John Stewart sponsors a screening of the University of Michigan-Ohio State Big Ten football clash, hosted by Speaker of the House Craig DeRoche, Saturday at Papa Romanos in Plymouth Township.

Kickoff is at 1 p.m. Tickets are $50 per person; checks should be made payable to Committee to Re-Elect John C. Stewart. Papa Romanos is located at 555 Ann Arbor Road.

Toy drive

Mel's Golden Razor sponsors its 26th-annual toy collection for needy families and First Step.

Owner Mel Bobcean will accept toys and cash donations, which he then turns into food and clothing for needy families. The drive runs through Dec. 20.

Mel's Golden Razor is located at 595 Forest in downtown Plymouth. For information, call (734) 455-9057.

The Plymouth community gets a chance to welcome Santa back to town when the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce hosts the jolly elf at 5:45 p.m. Friday, Nov. 25 at the band shell in Kellogg Park.

The crowd will be led in Christmas carols, and Santa's arrival is scheduled for 6 p.m. Following the welcome, Santa will begin accepting visitors in Santa's House, set up on the perimeter of Kellogg Park on Main Street.

The visits will continue on weekends through Dec. 23. Visiting hours are 5-8 p.m. Fridays and noon-5 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays. There is also the opportunity to have pictures of pets taken with Santa. Proceeds will then be donated to the Michigan Humane Society.

For more information, call the chamber, (734) 453-1540.

Singing auditions

Destination Theatre is looking for 16-24 voices for the choir that will accompany the dramatic performance of "John Brown's Body," the epic poem by Stephen Vincent Benet. The score is traditional, Civil War-era music sung in four part harmony, with several solos. Those auditioning should be prepared to sing from "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," engage in various vocal exercises and sight-read from the score.

The audition will take place in the Biltmore Studio at The Village Theater at Cherry Hill on Nov. 29 at 7 p.m. The performance will be Feb. 10 and 11 on the main stage at The Village Theater. Please direct any questions to Patrick Persons at personsp@yahoo.com or by calling (734) 416-9883.

Adopt a family

The Canton Goodfellows "Be an Angel" Christmas program is in full swing. "Angels" may call and adopt a child or a family for whom they will purchase Christmas gifts. It's a great way to make sure that the Goodfellows reach their goal of "No Canton Child without a Christmas."

All monies raised go to the children and families in Canton. For more information, call (734) 397-8975.

Scouts to the rescue

Girl Scouts from Service Units E, A and B of the Canton/Plymouth Girl Scouts - which includes scouts from Eriksson, Fiegel, Miller, Canton Charter, Field, Hoben, All Saints, Dodson, Tonda, Bentley, Hulsing and Gallimore elementaries, participated in Nickelodeon's "We've Got Your Back" initiative to provide school supplies and other items to victims of Hurricane Katrina. In total, the girls brought in 1,300 backpacks, 243 notebooks, 57 stuffed animals and much more. Last month, the girls shipped a full pallet of supplies to Hugg Middle School in Houston, Texas.

Family Christmas show

The Canton Concert Band will hold its second annual holiday concert, "Gather Round the Tree: A Family Christmas", Thursday, Dec. 8, at 7:30 p.m.

The stage of the Village Theater at Cherry Hill will be transformed with trees, sleighs and all the sights of the holidays. The band will play traditional and holiday favorite music.

Tickets are $8, and are available at the Summit, 46000 Summit Parkway, Canton, (734) 394-5460.

For more information about the concert or the band, call director Jim Blough at (734) 495-1608, or go to www.cantonband.com.

The Canton Historical Society is holding its 3rd annual holiday poinsettia sale.

Poinsettias are available in red, pink, or white, as well as tri-color (includes one plant of each variety). Orders, which will be available for pick-up on Dec. 10 at the Cherry Hill School, must be placed by Nov. 16.

Prices range from $5 to $20. For more information, contact Kay of the Canton Historical Society at (734) 453-9266.

'Survivor' to speak

Christian speaker Mike Skupin, formerly on the popular television show Survivor, will tell of his ordeal after falling into fire at 10 a.m. on Nov. 20 at Christ The Good Shepherd Lutheran Church, 42690 Cherry Hill Rd in Canton. Brunch will be served immediately following the service. For more information please call (734) 981-0286.

Holiday fair

Tri-City Christian Center in Canton is holding a Holiday Craft Fair on Dec. 10, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tri-City Christian Center is located at 3855 Sheldon Road (Just north of Michigan Avenue). More than 75 crafters will be selling their wares. There is a $1 admission. There will also be refreshments available and a bake sale. For more information, contact Cindy at (734) 495-3363.

TAG screening

Plymouth-Canton Community Schools officials are screening students for admission to the district's Talented and Gifted program for the 2006-07 school year.

To apply for admission to the program, a student must reside within the district boundaries and be in grades 2-7. Nomination forms are available in all P-CCS elementary and middle schools. Completed nomination forms need to be back to school principals or counselors by Dec. 23.

Nomination forms also are available online at www.pccs.k12.mi.us.

Nominations for non-public school students should be returned to the TAG Office at Miller Elementary School, 43721 Hanford Road, Canton, MI 48187.

Screening for the program involves two phases of standardized testing, including the Iowa Test of Basic Skills and the Cognitive Abilities Test.

Civil War roundtable

The Abraham Lincoln Civil War Roundtable presents Barbara Shafer to talk about the 50th Pennsylvania Regiment and its participation in the civil war at its meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 17 at the Plymouth Historical Museum.

Shafer, a teacher from Dearborn, will have letters and personal artifacts of her great-grandfather, a member of the 50th Regiment. She has written articles for Civil War Times, Michigan History Magazine and other publications.

The museum is located at 155 S. Main in downtown Plymouth. Admission is free, and the public is invited. For more information, call (734) 459-7324.

Among the best of the best

Hometown marchers take 9th in nation

P-CEP marching band director Marc Whitlock gives his 200-member band last-minute instructions after warm-ups and before taking the field.

CORRESPONDENT

It's no easy feat to be among the 12 most outstanding high school marching bands in the country, but it's something the Plymouth-Canton Educational Park Marching Band pulled off again at the 30th-annual Bands of America Grand National Championships at the RCA Dome in Indianapolis Nov. 10-12.

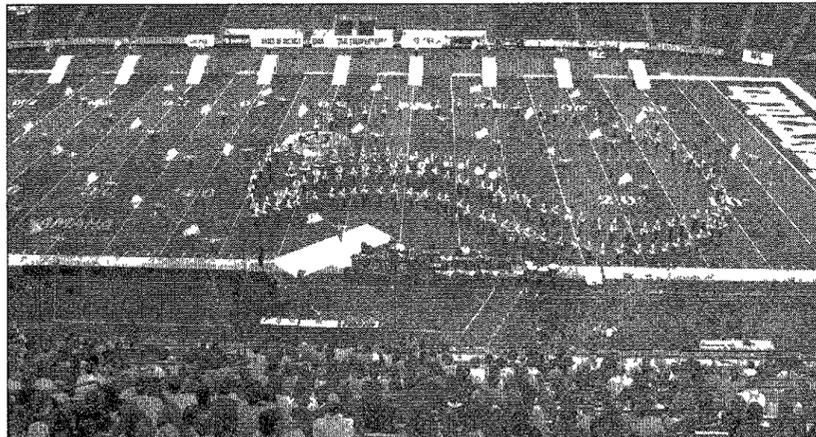

"I could not be happier with our kids," a beaming Marc Whitlock, director of bands at the Park, said after the Saturday night finals awards ceremony. "They performed the best show of their entire season tonight at finals. It was hands down the best performance of the year. I was very thrilled for them and for all of us. It was truly, truly an outstanding achievement on their part."

Salem senior Charlie Nahra, who played a masterful trumpet solo during the show, couldn't agree more.

"It was an incredible performance," he said. "It was very emotional—we put a lot into this all season. All the practice was worth it. The payoff is today. It's not about the placement, it's about the performance."

The Plymouth-Canton marchers wowed the crowd and the judges with their musical, marching and dance acuity as they performed their 10-minute competition piece, "Performing Inside Out," and progressed from a field of 91 bands from 25 states during preliminaries on Thursday to the 34 highest-scoring bands in semi-finals on Saturday to the top 12 performing in the Saturday night finals show.

Of the 10 marching bands from Michigan, only two others advanced to semi-finals: Muskegon Reeths-Puffer and Jenison. Plymouth-Canton was the only Michigan band in finals, taking ninth place. This year's top spot went to Indiana's Carmel High School Marching Band.

"This is the best of the best and just to be among them is an honor," said Ray Linkous, assistant marching band director. "This is my first BOA event and I'm really pleased I could be a part of this with the Plymouth-Canton Band. I think they did a wonderful job and they should be really proud of what they have accomplished."

That accomplishment adds to a long list for the hometown marchers. This is the 16th of the last 17 the band has had the distinction of being among the top 10 bands in the nation, including the number one spot in 1999 and back-to-back championships in '90 and '91.

The prestigious placement is the pinnacle of a spectacular fall competition season that included every Flight I first-place trophy and all caption awards for Best Music, Best Marching and Best General Effect along with the highest score of all competing bands at all four local competitions as well as the MCBA State Championships.

The P-CMB also captured the championship at the 2004 BOA Region 1 Championships in October, missing first by less than a point.

"The competition was huge this year," Canton senior trumpeter Doug McKelvey said of Nationals. "There were a bunch of Texas and Indiana bands. All the best bands in the country came here this year. Making the top 12 was enough for us, so getting ninth was really great."

The quality of the bands is amazing, according to L. Scott McCormick, president and CEO of Bands of America. His father founded the organization in 1975.

"When you look at what high school kids are doing on the field it is just mind-boggling," he said. "When I think back to my high school days, it would have never been heard of to even think of kids performing at this level."

That excellence in performance was something appreciated by the Plymouth-Canton marchers, who stood and applauded the efforts of the bands they had the opportunity to watch.

"It was really exciting to watch the other bands too," said Salem senior Dawn Bomay, part of the 50-member color guard segment of the band. "You learn a lot from how they do things. It was all pretty amazing."

AMVETS comes to aid of school after theft

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

It seemed fitting on Veterans Day that a flag helped unite a Westland AMVETS group with a Canton elementary school.

But, the patriotic pairing during a Friday flag-raising ceremony at Walker-Winter Elementary School actually started with a crime.

Days before Veterans Day, the school's flag was stolen when it was mistakenly left flying on a flagpole overnight.

"I couldn't believe it," Principal Pauline Koulouberif said.

When she contacted Wayne AMVETS Post 171, on Meffman Road near Avondale in Westland, veterans dug into their own pockets, collected about $70 and bought a 5-by-9-foot flag for the school.

"I thought it was disgusting that somebody would steal their flag," said Jon Wilson, corporate officer and banquet hall manager for AMVETS Post 171.

Veterans, students and school employees said the Pledge of Allegiance and sang patriotic songs during the event.

"It was wonderful," Koulouberif said. "We felt privileged to have these veterans at our school. It was a great way to help students recognize what veterans do and they got to experience the patriotism of raising the flag and connecting with real veterans."

Students raised the flag as veterans looked on, knowing they had helped keep the flag flying in front of Walker-Winter Elementary School.

"It's part of what we're here for," Wilson, a Vietnam veteran, said. "We not only take care of vets, but we do community service, too."

date Howard Dean, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, tried to rally state Democrats, pointing the party's guns directly at Michigan's Republican representatives, national and statewide.

And he called on local party members to reach out in a grassroots campaign he said the party needs to regain control of both the U.S. and state legislatures.

"We need some work out of you," he told some 500 Democrats jammed into Ernesto's. "What we need you to do is reach out to people who didn't vote the way we did. That's how you build coalitions to win elections. We need to reach out and knock on doors."

As he has in recent speeches and television appearances, most recently on NBC's Meet the Press Sunday, Dean talked about "truth," seizing on the dwindling poll numbers of President George Bush as evidence Americans "want change" in Washington.

He invoked the CIA leak scandal, in which vice presidential chief of staff I. Lewis Libby was indicted on perjury charges and for which senior presidential adviser Karl Rove is still being investigated; the indictment of former House Majority Leader Tom DeLay on campaign finance violations; and the investigations into Senate Majority Leader Bill Frist, using them to accuse the president of fostering a "culture of corruption" in the country.

"We need to end the culture of corruption (Bush) has brought to Washington," Dean said. "We're going to tell the truth to our people, we're going to tell the truth to our troops, and we're going to tell the truth to our allies."

TAKING AIM

That's when Dean aimed the party's guns at the Michigan congressional delegation, chiefly 11th District U.S. Rep. Thaddeus McCotter, R-Livonia, and 9th District Rep. Joe Knollenberg, R-Bloomfield Township.

Dean said McCotter and Knollenberg each took thousands of dollars from DeLay's political action committee, and have voted with DeLay more than 90 percent of the time.

"The culture of corruption has reached Michigan," Dean said. "(McCotter and Knollenberg) have refused to give that money back. These people may represent Tom DeLay's values, but they don't represent Michigan's values."

The vulnerability of state Republicans is a viewpoint with which Steven Reifman of Farmington Hills agrees. Reifman, who lost to Knollenberg in 2004 and is considering challenging him again, is a key figure in the formation of the group Michigan Congressional Challengers' Coalition - MC3 - formed to organize a strategy for winning statewide and national offices.

He hoped Dean would show a willingness on the part of the national party to support local candidates, and he liked what he heard.

"(McCotter) is vulnerable; he's independent in a way, but he's also a true Republican," Reifman said. "We're not supporting any particular candidate. We think it's important for the national party to groom national leaders."

RECENT VICTORIES

Reifman painted Knollenberg as "a mundane guy with no real leadership" skills, points Reifman said make Knollenberg "very vulnerable."

"He's tied at the hip to President Bush; he's an arch-conservative," Reifman said. "We don't have an arch-conservative district, and we need to educate the voters on that."

Dean trumpeted recent Democratic victories, including gubernatorial races in New Jersey and Virginia (despite a last-minute campaign stop by President Bush), and the defeat of four initiatives sponsored by California Gov. Arnold Schwarzenegger - "Maybe we can turn (Schwarzenegger) into the 'One-Terminator,'" Dean joked - as evidence the Democrats are poised to "take back the country."

He also urged Democrats to support minority candidates, including African-Americans, for both state and national races.

"Why do I bring up uncomfortable subjects like race?" Dean asked. "Because the only majority in the party is women. Each of us is a minority, and the only way we win is by sticking together."

Dean also hit the high points for Democrats:

■ On jobs - "We're going to have jobs in America, and we're going to have jobs that stay in America."

■ On industry - "We need a new industry, and I think it's going to be renewable energy."

■ On health care - "We need a health care system that does what 36 other countries do, and that is cover everybody."

■ On education - "We need a strong public education system, because a strong public education system is what made everything possible in America."

As might be expected, Dean's message resonated with the throng jammed into the restaurant.

"I was quite impressed," said state Rep. Aldo Vagnozzi, D-Farmington Hills. "I supported him (for party chair) because he has the ability to rally people and he has the issues to talk about. I think we have to be aggressive, and stress the issues people care about."

administrative costs and per-pupil allocations.

"Those districts with declining enrollment are paying a price, and I would hope they would be considered," said Liepa. "When enrollment starts to decline, it takes a while to reduce costs equal to revenue coming in."

"There are some lower funded school districts in metro Detroit - like Redford Union, Garden City and Wayne-Westland - that should also be given some consideration," added Liepa.

LaJoy said HB 4828, by no means, is a cure-all for Proposal A, but is a start in achieving equity for school districts across the state.

"Obviously, we have a problem in terms of the equity in funding," said LaJoy. "I know everybody wants to get more money, and that's something we should do. I personally believe we need to reduce the gap."

"Having said that, we have to start somewhere," he said. "We need to use this as a beginning. If you don't start somewhere, you never get anywhere."

LaJoy said he expects the House Education Committee to consider his bill within the first three months of next year. If moved forward, the bill would need 56 votes to get through the House.

The School Equity Caucus, which represents 250 school districts throughout the state, is seeking adequacy and equity in the funding of schools. Executive Director Richard Wilson said increasing school funding is "worthwhile and desirable," but LaJoy's bill isn't the answer.

"A lot of school districts throughout the state need a lot of help, and for us to go out and find a handful of districts that benefit ... it's an approach that is not the most desirable," said Wilson. "I think its future passage in the House is highly problematical."

The Middle Cities Education Association speaks for urban school districts across the state, and executive director Ray Tellman, like most others, wants to see more districts involved in any tweaking of Proposal A.

"What has to happen is a more sympathetic approach, where there are no winners and losers," said Tellman. "Everybody needs to be treated more fairly, or you just end up pitting school districts against each other."

Plymouth-Canton Schools Board of Education Vice President Judy Mardigian said other school districts - including Wayne-Westland, Livonia and Northville - have seen some type of Proposal A funding adjustments in the past.

"This is just another of those solutions," said Mardigian. "It doesn't mean it (LaJoy's bill) should be the only way to address inequities, it just addresses one aspect of it. Hopefully, it's only one of many more to come."

Following the introduction of LaJoy's bill, State Rep. John Stewart, R-Plymouth Township, introduced legislation to increase per-pupil funding for Plymouth-Canton Schools by $1,500.

"This is the beginning of the negotiation process for next year's K-12 budget, and I am hoping that the additional $1,500 per student will improve the equity gap," said Stewart. "Education is a top priority. One of the most important things we can do for our children is to make sure they are getting a good education."

House Bill 5415 is also headed to the House Education Committee for consideration.

Village event aims to turn up holiday spirit

STAFF WRITER

It's not even Thanksgiving, but Jami Jenkins' Christmas tree is already standing in her living room.

Between now and then end of next week, she will have put up seven trees in her house, each of them decorated "just so." She can't help it, she said. She's just crazy about Christmas.

She's hoping that her holiday spirit is contagious, and will lead to a big turnout at Canton's second-annual Christmas in the Village later this month in Cherry Hill Village.

"It's going to be a great family event," Jenkins said.

The celebration kicks off the evening of Friday, Nov. 25, with a tour of eight homes in Cherry Hill Village. Each home will be decked out by local florists and holiday supply and gift stores. Activities continue the next day, with a craft tent for the children, tea with Mrs. Claus, free carriage rides, concessions by local restaurants, and two performances at the Village Theater by the Toronto All-Star Big Band.

The weekend finishes off with a tree lighting Saturday at 5:30 p.m.

The event started during the dog days of summer nearly three years ago, when Jenkins and her family first moved to Canton. As soon as they moved into their new home in Cherry Hill Village, she started thinking how pretty the neighborhood must look during the winter holidays.

"I would take the dog out for a walk and I started getting more and more visions of Christmas, and the idea came to me to do something like this," she said.

Jenkins asked her neighbors if anyone had already put together a Christmas activity in Cherry Hill Village and when she found no one had, she gathered a few people from the neighborhood to form a committee to organize the annual event.

"It went better than we had expected last year, and it's going to be about three times bigger this year," she said.

The event raised some $4,000 for the Canton Community Foundation last year, and the goal this year is to raise $8,000 for the Partnership for the Arts and Humanities of Canton.

Most events and entertainment at Christmas in the Village are free to the public, or available at a nominal charge. Tickets for the home tours are $12 in advance, or $15 the day of the tour. They are available for purchase at the Summit on the park, Remerica Hometown One in Cherry Hill Village, Petite Maison in Northville, Feather Your next in Superior Township, and Lynn's Corner Shoppe in downtown Plymouth. The day of the tour, tickets may only be purchased at the Remerica location.

Tickets for the Toronto All-Star Big Band are $15 for the 4 p.m. performance and $18 at 7 p.m. Home Tour and Performance combo tickets are available for $27. All tickets can be purchased at the Summit in Canton.

Tickets for "Tea & Story Time with Mrs. Claus" are $5 and are available at the Summit. Adults accompanying children must also have a

NEWS BRIEFS

Accepting the first installment of a three-year grant from The Dove Self-Esteem Fund are (third and fourth from right) Gail Scott, Chief Executive Officer, Girl Scouts of the Huron Valley; and Diane Hockett, Director of Membership, GSHVC; along with Philippe Harousseau, Marketing Director-Dove Skin Masterbrand; Dominique Dawes, uniquely ME! spokesperson and three-time Olympian; Mary Lee Hoffman, Senior VP Development-National Funding, Girl Scouts of the USA; Patti Wakeling, Dove Masterbrand Senior Marketing Manager; and Christy DeSantis, Dove Global Medical Manager.

Girl Scouts grant

Girl Scouts of the Huron Valley Council received a grant from the Dove Self-Esteem Fund to implement the uniquely ME! program in the communities they serve.

The council will receive an estimated $95,000 from 2005-2008, designating them as a uniquely ME! council.

Uniquely ME! helps to build self-esteem by empowering girls to recognize the pitfalls of risky behaviors like smoking, drinking, drug use, eating disorders, and unsafe sexual behavior, which are all linked to low self-esteem. The program also aims to make girls feel better about themselves, both physically and emotionally. Armed with this knowledge and confidence, the girls can build a foundation for a healthy self-image.

"Everything we do at Girl Scouts of the Huron Valley Council is aimed at uplifting and empowering girls and making sure they can make informed decisions throughout their lives," said Gail Scott, council CEO. "We are very excited to be a part of the uniquely ME! program and we thank Unilever and the Dove Self-Esteem Fund for enabling us to spread these important life lessons to our girls."

In 2002, Girl Scouts of the USA teamed with Unilever, Dove's parent company, to create uniquely ME! The Girl Scout/Unilever Self-Esteem Program designed to reach thousands of girls from diverse backgrounds who deal with issues of esteem and confidence in many facets of their lives.

In its first three years, and with the assistance of approximately 3,000 volunteers, uniquely ME! reached more than 166,000 teens and teens, ages 8-14, through its activities and events. Due to the success of the program, Dove has committed to the partnership with Girl Scouts through 2008. With the help of the newly funded councils, uniquely ME! will broaden its curriculum to include girls up to age 17.

Speaker series breeds familiarity with the arts

BY CAROL MARSHALL
STAFF WRITER

Some call it a well-kept secret. And others say it's a way to inject a little bit of culture into your life. It's the Cafe DIA Speaker Series at Cherry Hill Village, and it's new this year to the theater's lineup of community activities.

"It's really a great way to spend an afternoon or an evening," said Jennifer Eubanks, recreation specialist for Canton Township.

The series is brought to the township by the Detroit Institute of Art Speaker's Bureau, a group of expert volunteers who share their knowledge at events like Cafe DIA.

The Speaker's Bureau has 26 topics from which to choose, and Eubanks chose one per month for October through April. Some of the events will be in the evenings and some will be on Saturdays.

"It's kind of a neat opportunity. If you're not familiar with the arts, it's a chance to bring a little culture to your life. And if you do know about the arts, it's just an interesting way to spend a little time. It's great for groups of friends or for a girls' night out. Instead of taking in a movie, you can take in some arts," Eubanks said.

The programs, which usually consist of a slide show and brief lecture, also include a question and answer period, and Eubanks said they're inter-

Hurricane volunteers share their stories

Nearly 140 Red Cross volunteers from the Chapter went to assist following the hurricanes.

Those who shared stories about helping hurricane survivors during the past few months included:

■ Reginald Johnson of Southfield, a new volunteer for whom Hurricane Katrina became his first large disaster relief operation. Johnson served Hattiesburg, Mississippi for family case-work as a service center supervisor.

■ Shoti Ali-Jones of Troy, also a new volunteer since Hurricane Katrina. One of 474 tri-county residents trained by the Southeastern Michigan Chapter since Sept. 1. Ali-Jones served as a staff support manager in Montgomery, Ala.

■ Dr. Susan Silk, a licensed psychologist from Southfield, a long-time Red Cross volunteer who has served in leadership roles on many disaster relief operations including the Sept. 11 tragedy at the Pentagon. During Hurricane Katrina relief efforts, she was in the Florida panhandle as a leader for the mental health counseling service.

■ John Skorna of Warren was the first volunteer from the Southeastern Michigan Chapter to go to the Gulf Coast and was there for six weeks. He delivered emergency supplies to neighborhoods and Red Cross shelters and helped in other areas. Skorna has provided aid during more than 30 national disasters, including Hurricane Dennis in July.

■ David West of Canton, a casework supervisor in Detroit for hurricane survivors who traveled to southeast Michigan. He went to Baton Rouge, La. for client services and to New Orleans to assist with damage assessment in September. This was West's fourth major disaster assignment.

The event was held at Lawrence Technological University in Southfield.

Habitat gets students up-close with nature

STAFF WRITER

It was a sunny, but cool, October Saturday as more than two dozen students, parents and other volunteers converged on Allen Elementary School in Plymouth Township recently to construct a schoolyard wildlife habitat that will give kids a chance to study nature first-hand.

While Visteon provided the initial $4,000 grant to the Plymouth Community United Way, which then matched it, it was teacher Ann Page who wrote the proposal for Allen — one of the four Plymouth-Canton Schools which shared the grant money — with a special interest in mind.

Page teaches emotionally impaired fourth- and fifth-grade students, and believes the habitat project will provide her students — who helped design and construct the habitat — with several benefits.

"I think it gives them a sense of accomplishment, a sense of pride," said Page. "A lot of times they're thought of as the trouble-makers in the building, but when they took on the task and did a good job, I think it gives the other kids a new outlook.

"They're responsible for the upkeep and maintenance," added Page. "They go out every afternoon and water all the plants. They get really excited about that."

Page said while the grant was written with her students in mind, the wildlife habitat grew into an entire school project, "which made it even more special," she said.

The new habitat, which was constructed in the middle of the U-shaped building for all to share, has specific areas designed for insects, birds and amphibians.

"We put in butterfly bushes to attract insects to where the students will see them fly by through their windows," said Rick Plecha, the project coordinator for the four habitats, including ones at Bentley, Farrand and Hoben elementaries which were constructed last spring. "We planted berry producers to attract the birds. And there's a frog pond in the middle so everyone can see the water plants and the water animals interact."

"The kids designed a very user friendly habitat," added Plecha. "There's a nice woodchip path around each of the areas so the kids can walk through each of the specific zones."

Page said all students at Allen will benefit from the new wildlife habitat will attract.

"It gives hands-on experience to the science curriculum," said Page. "The students will be able to see and look up-close-and-personal at what they're studying."

"Sometimes, pictures in a book aren't the same as seeing it in real life," she said. "Next year, we hope to put some nesting cans in the bird houses. How neat it would be for kids to see a nest hatch."

Nine of the 15 elementary schools in the Plymouth-Canton district have habitats. Plecha, a fifth-grade instructor at Field Elementary, started it all with the wildlife sanctuary along the Truesdell Creek behind Field in Canton Township, which is the standard to which other habitats in the district are measured.

However, because of the effort by the emotionally impaired students, Plecha is giving Allen's new habitat high praise.

"This schoolyard habitat, among the others, stands out because of the contributions of Ann's kids," said Plecha. "Their motivation and excitement inspired our volunteers to go the extra mile, and I think we did."

"It's the crown jewel because of the teacher and her students," he said.

Marie Morrow, president of the Plymouth Community United Way, called the habitat project one of the most successful partnerships between the PCUW and Plymouth-Canton Schools.

Physical Therapy UPDATE
Hands On Center
Presented by Hands On Center For Physical Therapy
STRONGER MUSCLES HELP ARTHRITIC JOINTS
Weight training can strengthen the muscles that cushion sore arthritic joints. Stronger muscles mean less pressure on the joints. If you have arthritic knees, one muscle-strengthening exercise involves wearing an ankle weight on each leg while seated in a chair. Then, slowly raise one leg for four counts, until the leg is fully extended. Bring the leg back down in four counts. Do this 12 times on each leg, rest 30 seconds, then repeat. For hips, wear an ankle weight on each leg while lying on your side. Lift your leg slowly for four counts until it is at a 45-degree angle, then bring it down in four counts. Repeat 12 times on each leg, rest 30 seconds, then repeat.
If the chronic pain of arthritic joints interrupts your day-to-day activities, talk to your physician to see if physical therapy would be a good treatment option. For more information, call the HANDS ON CENTER FOR PHYSICAL THERAPY at 455-8370. We are conveniently located at 650 South Main Street in downtown Plymouth and can be reached by calling. We have easy access and parking. New patients are gladly accepted.
PS The physical therapist can prescribe an exercise regimen that helps people with arthritis live more complete, less painful lives.

eight wines. In addition to the wine tasting was a sampling of hors d'oeuvres.

"Wine tastings are just huge right now. There's a lot of interest in them, which is part of why the event was so popular this year," Zevalkink said. "It's also a truly social evening that is really affordable."

Tickets for the event were $30. Far more than half of the people who attend are people who are not affiliated in any way with Canton charities, community groups or the township government.

"They're just people who like wine and picked up tickets," Zevalkink said. "I think it's a really good value. We have a large selection of food and desserts and then to taste so many kinds of wine."

A Toast to Canton started seven years ago when John Pardington first opened Holiday Market in Canton.

"When I first opened the store, I was looking for a way to introduce people to Holiday Market, and had an idea to do a big wine tasting," Pardington said. "I approached the township and said if they could find a venue and a charity to donate the money to, I would put together the party."

The first year, the event raised about $8,000, and Pardington said that was a big success.

"Now I coordinate all the wines and do all the food, and Debbie (Zevalkink) takes care of administration and coordinating the volunteers," he said. "Every year, we're always trying to make it better."

Pardington hadn't even made it through the first hour of this year's toast before he started thinking of additions to the event for next year.

Recently he did a fund-raiser at Our Lady of Good Counsel Church in Plymouth Township, which featured a martini bar and outdoor cigar tent.

"I think that doing those kinds of things at Toast to Canton would work out really well. Or maybe adding a silent auction," he said.

But across the room, Beth Marshall of Canton and her significant other, Dwight Clotier of Plymouth, were focusing on the moment, and not the future, as they stood at a table enjoying a glass of wine. This was the second year the couple attended, and they're not drawn to it because of the charity aspect or because the crowd includes a "Who's Who of Canton."

"I think it's just a great way to sample a lot of wines for not a lot of money," Marshall said. "I actually take notes and write down what kind of wines I like. I don't really know wine as well as I would like to, but I love the opportunity to try them."

OUR VIEWS

Alliance could save Rouge

Last month, Canton Township became the 12th community to adopt the bylaws of the fledgling Alliance of Rouge Communities (ARC), which is being created from the Assembly of Rouge Communities, that formed in 2002 after federal funding to clean up the Rouge River started to dry up.

Since that time, many more have joined, and a total of 21 of the 38 communities in the Rouge watershed have formally become ARC members, according to Wayne County Director of Environment Kurt Heise, who said the alliance needed only 20 members to be formally created. In fact, Heise says all of the watershed communities in Wayne County, except Detroit, will have either approved the ARC bylaws or will vote on the matter before Thanksgiving.

Canton officials should be commended for deciding to join this alliance. The success of the group will be instrumental if we are ever to see the effort to restore the Rouge River completed. Since 1992, the federal government has spent millions on the Rouge River National Wet Weather Demonstration Project. Without question, major progress was made.

Sewage overflows and industrial dumping have nearly been eliminated, and dissolved oxygen, which living organisms need to survive, has improved dramatically in most areas of the Rouge, which drains one of the most urban areas in the state.

A new state law, which was sponsored in the state Senate by Bruce Patterson, R-Canton, allowed the formation of ARC, which is really a public corporation that can apply for grants, raise money and hire staff. Heise says the new alliance will look at the Rouge River through the eyes of an entire watershed, not as 38 individual communities, as was the case in the past.

ARC members will be able to pool resources, which can reduce local costs and increase the overall effectiveness of the group, because the only real way to restore the Rouge is to look at it as a single entity. What happens to the Rouge in one community, impacts all the communities downstream.

ARC will also be beneficial in informing the general public about Rouge River restoration efforts, and what role we all play in the health of the river. ARC will do everything from creating public relation packets about the river to distributing videos that teach homeowner associations how to maintain retention basins. Reaching the public is important because, ultimately, the health of the Rouge River will come down to the decisions we all make on a daily basis, such as whether or not we dump oil down a storm drain or overfertilize our lawns.

Now that federal money has dried up, the alliance may be the only hope the Rouge River has.

Bridge gap between city and suburbs

We congratulate Kwame Kilpatrick on his re-election as mayor of Detroit. He overcame a troubled first term, opposition from both daily newspapers and an array of polls that gave the election to his opponent, Freman Hendrix.

It is now Kilpatrick's challenge to make good on his repeated promises to do better in his second term. Detroit faces a daunting list of problems that needs immediate attention, from a deteriorating infrastructure to an escalating migration of residents from the city to continuing problems of unemployment, poverty, crime and addiction.

None of those problems will be solved in a single four-year term, but the mayor is obligated to acknowledge the problems and make a strong effort toward dealing with them.

The mayor understands that he needs to reach out to the communities that surround Detroit. Those communities are important to Detroit's future and Detroit's future is important to those communities.

At his victory speech Kilpatrick said it best, "I'm going to communicate with you because you are going to help me solve those problems. We need each other in this city, in this region and in this state, more than we ever needed each other before."

We can no longer continue our de facto apartheid and we urge our suburban leaders to join the mayor and begin a real dialogue on racial perceptions and real action on the inequities that have made metro Detroit a synonym for urban decay.

We believe that bridging this gap should be a top priority for both city and suburban leaders, because without this cooperation, those other problems will only grow worse.

Wonderful event

On behalf of the Canton Exchange Club, I would like to thank the Canton Newcomers for choosing our service club as the beneficiary of the 2nd Annual Home-Based Business Showcase and Silent Auction. The Canton Exchange Club provides scholarships to students in the community, youth activities, and to organizations that support child abuse prevention. The Canton Newcomers is a social, civic and charitable organization, "where neighbors become friends," which serves as their motto.

This event was held on Nov. 2, at the Sunflower Subdivision Clubhouse, located on Hanford Road between Beck and Canton Center. The clubhouse is the regular meeting site for this large and growing group. The event offered 17 business displays, a silent auction, socializing, and some wonderful refreshments.

All of this would not have happened without the endless efforts of the Showcase chairpersons, Nicole Pulick and Karen Kruczka. We also want to thank Noreen Rybar for her contributions, and for making our club feel so welcome. In addition to the generous donations of the Newcomer members, many local businesses (too many for me to name here, unfortunately) were extremely generous in making the auction a huge success. We would also like to recognize Kim Whalen for all of the time and energy spent collecting and coordinating these many gifts - a very difficult task.

For those home-based business owners who donated a portion of sales, and for all those who attended and supported this event, we also thank you. What a tremendous example of defining community. The funds raised by this event will go toward improving the lives of many children with unthinkable needs, and everyone involved should be extremely proud of their efforts.

For more information about the Canton Exchange Club's activities, please contact me at (734) 398-5570, or visit our national Web site at www.nationalexchangeclub.com. Also, whether you are new to the Canton area, have lived here your whole life, or somewhere in between, the Canton Newcomers, with their warm and friendly members, may be just what you are looking for. #### Store is responsible

I read the article regarding the dog attack at Petsmart, and am not surprised this happened. The very first time I stepped foot in a pet store and saw animals inside I said to my husband, "How can they allow animals in the store? What would this business do and feel if someone was attacked or bit by an animal?" And, sad but true, it happened. I feel since the business allows people to bring their animals with them into the store, the business should be totally liable for all incidents that occur inside or around their store.

I own and love my cockatiel bird. However, I certainly would not walk it into a store on my shoulder or in a cage. Animals belong at home and not in stores unless of course it is a dog belonging to a blind person and those dogs are well-trained. When I do have to get food for my bird at the pet store, I do not appreciate walking in the door and seeing animals roaming around in the store. These animals may not be used to children or other people they do not know. I usually run in and out of the store as I am allergic to cats and dogs due to their dander. I try not to breathe through my nose too heavily when I am in the store.

All pet stores should not be allowed to have animals roaming around in their stores or they should pay for consequences like this dog attack.

People, love and keep your animals at home.

Temporary solution

This tentative agreement between GM and the UAW is yet another temporary solution to the real problem. General Motors will only save $1 billion annually. They lost more than that this quarter.

Now DaimlerChrysler is seeking a cut? Is $1 billion really going to make a difference? It sure won't fix the problem and the effects will be felt everywhere as others follow GM's lead. The only losers will be the workers and the existing retirees who are the most vulnerable. Who will now have to bear the burden once again.

Let's not forget future retirees. Instead of using this opportunity to rally for national health care, the United Auto Workers' leadership champions concessions. GM will be temporarily relieved by $1 billion annually? I don't think so.

What will be revealed is the pork barrel of bargaining under the special clauses of plant closures. I wonder if these plants will be known prior to a membership ratification of this new deal. I wonder if they'll tell the workers at the plants that will be shut down before they vote. It will be highly unlikely that a plant would vote yes knowing their jobs would be lost if they did. This new deal isn't as much about health care costs as it is about plant closures.

Now we finally are hearing talk about GMAC. This is basically the only thing profiting for GM. They are planning to sell a majority stake? It's well-known that GMAC was the only thing keeping GM from collapse.

We know from the Delphi bankruptcy that filing for North American operations are a promised success, right? After investing all of North America's profits overseas for the last two decades, Delphi has little to invest in the American infrastructure.

In a matter of time, we will watch GM follow the Delphi experiment. Without GMAC and with careful handling of profits overseas, GM needs Delphi to succeed with its dramatic union busting or, as they call it, "reconstruction" of the company.

If Delphi can get away with this and dump pensions and benefits, then GM will, too. It is a pattern that is being set by Delphi. A grand testing experiment to shrug off the weight of an organized labor force. Millions are going to be affected by this long-term strategy. Some are going to lose everything and some are going to gain everything.

If history shows us anything, it is that we can find our fate from the steel and airline industry. Even the players are the same. Robert "Steve" Miller is now leading Delphi along with all his same bankrupt cronies. Key figures in both the airline and steel industry melt downs. They're bringing down the ship and the main goal of their strategy is to remove the word "united" next to auto workers.

Think as you are voting.

Irony in funeral

Rosa Parks was a great woman. She took her seat on the Montgomery bus because it was her right as an American. She did not seek her role in the civil rights movement, but modestly accepted it. She did not seek notoriety for herself, but was glad that others benefited from her behavior. She lived her life privately.

How ironic that her death should promote such political commotion and promotion? Television news had one and only one topic: Parks' death. Out of the back rooms came entertainers who made people laugh; including Jesse Jackson in the front row. The speakers danced and shouted; the audience laughed and danced. Everyone had a good old time.

Lost was the heroic deed of Rosa Parks. Television contributed hours of prime time without commercials to the spectacle of a horse-drawn carriage, the longest limousines, mounted police and a hearse - all accompanied by a somber, descriptive voice.

May Rosa Parks be remembered as the lady who sat on the bus and challenged segregation in the South and this contributed to unfinished business in the North.

Time is now for election winners to act on campaign promises

The elections are over and either your candidate or proposal won or lost, but whatever the outcome, "It is what it is" and it's time to move on.

You can perform various analyses as to what happened and why, who voted and who did not, what was the issue that tipped the voters to one candidate or another or why they voted for the proposal vs. against, but at the end of the day the election is over and the voters have spoken. All the analysis does is allow the defeated and the consultants to figure out what they have to do differently next time to win.

Now it's time to govern. It's time for all the election promises to come to roost. Yes, all the campaign rhetoric, promises, plans, etc. must now be fulfilled. If past practice is any indication, the winners will ignore all the promises made. But in today's economic environment, it's important for the citizenry and this newspaper to hold those who made the election promises accountable. It's too important not to.

Richard Aginian

Let's look at two of our communities, Birmingham and Livonia. In Birmingham, there is a newcomer to the City Commission and a former commissioner elected to the Library Board; in Livonia, a proposal to stop funding SMART was passed.

NEW IN BIRMINGHAM

Stuart Sherman is the newcomer to the Birmingham City Commission and now, as they say, "it's showtime." What and how will he do? Will he align himself with the majority that has moved Birmingham forward, erasing in some people's minds the nastiness of prior commissions and eliminating some of the unnecessary obstacles to allow for reasonable development or will he take us back to the past?

There are significant issues that need to be addressed in a thoughtful and proper fashion. We have been talking and studying them for a significant amount of time. It's now time for action. What is the plan for Shain Park? Many plans have been advanced, but let's get on with it. Solidify around a comprehensive plan, bring in the affected institutions and get it done. The Barnum facility land is in the same situation. Let's bring a plan forward that we can all embrace and move forward. Both of these projects suffer from what I and others call "paralysis by analysis."

There are other issues facing the commission as well. I don't always agree with Clinton Baller, the unsuccessful commission candidate, but he raised issues in the campaign that the commission should and must deal with.

But in today's economic environment, it's important for the citizenry and this newspaper to hold those who made the election promises accountable. It's too important not to.

The Library Board is a different story. In a campaign marked by alleged smears and half-truths, former Birmingham City Commissioner Seth Chafetz unseated incumbent Jan Bird. The onus is now on Chafetz to govern and rule with reason. Will he return to his days when he was on the city commission and nastiness and disrespect for the citizens appeared to be the norm?

Chafetz made campaign promises about prudent fiscal management, purchasing and the bidding process for contracts. Can he bring his expertise in a constructive manner to the Library Board or will the campaign rhetoric carry over? I hope it is the former vs. the latter.

LIVONIA OPTS OUT

Livonians voted to eliminate funding for SMART, the Suburban Mobility Authority for Regional Transportation. The withdrawal doesn't begin until the latter half of 2006, so Livonia officials have time to establish an alternative system. Campaign promises made to create an alternative system for Livonia now must become reality. Sometimes what you wish for is what you get and then reality sets in; what do I do now? The reality is here and time is running, so Livonia has to have a system in place by late next year.

This does raise the necessity on the larger scale of a regional transportation system. Light rail has been talked about and there is funding in place for a study linking Detroit and Ann Arbor along I-94, but I believe that's not the right place to start.

Kwame Kilpatrick, in his winning acceptance speech after his come-from-behind victory in the Detroit mayoral race, held out an olive branch to the region, especially after he bashed the suburbs with his drug use comments during the campaign. Let's take him at his word and convene Mayor Kilpatrick, executives Brooks Patterson of Oakland County and Bob Ficano of Wayne County and a representative from Macomb County to start working on a regional transportation system. The area needs a fiscally sound and well-functioning regional transportation system. It's never too late to start.

The election is over, so let's move on to govern. Your constituency needs it and demands it.

Advertisers place kids squarely in their sights

It's unlikely more than a few readers will recall the movie The Gods Must Be Crazy, which was released in 1980.

The plot revolves around a nomadic tribe of people from Africa, of which one member one day finds an empty Coca-Cola bottle and has no idea of its meaning or significance. He takes it back to his people, who surmise it must be a gift from the gods, but mayhem soon ensues.

It's a classic tale of the clash between ancient ways and modern technology — and it would be completely unbelievable today.

Bill Emerick

The trademark Coke symbol is probably the most-recognized advertising image around the world. There's not a continent, a country, a town or even a hamlet where the familiar red-and-white lettering and distinctive can design would not be instantly identified. Show it anywhere, to anyone, in the world and the viewer would immediately make the connection to the ubiquitous soda.

Of course, that kind of brand recognition doesn't come without a price. The Atlanta-based company has spent untold billions of dollars over the years on advertising in every medium available — print, broadcast, billboards, even song... who could forget I'd Like To Teach The World To Sing?

But a more accurate description of modern society's approach to marketing would be I'd Like To Teach The World To Spend.

Our culture places an artificial value on youth, in particular the unreasonable visage of nubile, sexually attractive teens. Why the fixation on all things young and beautiful? Because marketers want to sell you their products, and there is no more pliable audience than impressionable children.

Now, advertising is hardly a recent phenomenon. The first known ads appeared in English print magazines in the 1600s. The advent of radio, followed quickly by television and now the Internet, spawned new methods for companies to hawk their wares virtually non-stop.

But it's only in the past decade or so that children have become the target of more and more advertisements. Turned on the TV on a Saturday morning lately? It's difficult to discern when the "shows" end and the "commercials" begin.

Every animated movie worth its salt comes complete with an accompanying ad camaign for action figures, clothing and kids' meals available at the fast-food emporium of your choice.

Ask any ad exec the reason for this and the answer will come quickly: Children are the one demographic that isn't set in its ways. If firms can snare kids at an early age, chances are brand loyalty will remain for life.

In and of itself, that's not necessarily a bad thing. But what is disturbing is that our young people are being damn near brain-washed into thinking they "need" products and services that are luxuries at best and useless at worst.

An example? Look into the bathroom of any house that has a teen-age girl. Odds are you will find countless bottles of shampoo, conditioner, moisturizer, lotion and fragrance, undoubtedly in several "flavors" or "scents." To what end? The eternal quest for beauty (and, by twisted reasoning, popularity).

Look at it another way. A few years back, when my children were young enough to be immune to such clutter (or so I thought), my daughter told me in the checkout line at the grocery store that I was buying the wrong chewing gum.

"What?"

"That one there, it has the longest-lasting flavor," she said proudly.

The pressure to turn kids into consumers is increasing by the minute, as companies compete with one another to make themselves the latest darling to a generation, convincing them that fame, fortune and happiness are attainable with the right clothes, the right makeup, the right gadgets.

Unfortunately, any right-minded person can see through the fallacy. But kids don't have the wisdom of age or experience to know any better.

I'll leave you with an interesting quote I found on the Internet the other day: "Advertising is an essential factor in modern business methods, and to advertise wisely the business man must understand the workings of the minds of his customers, and must know how to influence them effectively — he must know how to apply psychology to advertising."

Those words were from an essay by Walter D. Scott, first published in The Atlantic Monthly — in 1904.

The more things change ...

Fieger, Cox showdown far from over

BY PAT MURPHY
STAFF WRITER

The dispute between Geoffrey Fieger and Attorney General Mike Cox may well shift to the Michigan Attorney Grievance Commission, the agency that investigates complaints against lawyers.

Cox

But the commission will not comment on complaints of misconduct by Fieger or Cox for months — if then — the deputy administrator said Wednesday.

"I saw the (televised) press conferences," Robert E. Edick, the grievance commission's second-in-command, said. But the commission has strict rules that preclude public comments or statements about cases that might be under review, he said.

"I can't even acknowledge any grievances have been filed," Edick said. "It makes us (at the commission) look stupid. But that's the way it is."

Fieger and Oakland County Prosecutor David Gorcyca both invoked the attorney grievance commission Tuesday in separate press conferences pertaining to allegations Fieger, through associate Lee O'Brien, was trying to blackmail the attorney general.

The press conferences were the latest developments in a bizarre case in which Fieger is accused of threatening to reveal Cox had an extramarital affair, something that would threaten his political career. In exchange, Fieger allegedly wanted the attorney general to discontinue looking into complaints.

Fieger had not reported contributions to the campaign to defeat a supreme court judge running for re-election.

Gorcyca, whose office investigated the attorney general's complaint, said he is confident Fieger and O'Brien conspired to blackmail Cox. But investigators had not turned up the evidence needed to file criminal charges, Gorcyca said.

"I am duty-bound to submit the evidence (collected by sheriff's investigators) to the Attorney Grievance Commission," Gorcyca said. "The commission is less constrained by rules of evidence," he said.

At his own press conference hours later, Fieger immediately complimented Gorcyca for not bowing to pressure from the attorney general and filing criminal charges.

But he chastised Cox for making what he said were false accusations. "Not a word of what Mr. Cox told you (the media and the prosecutor) last week was true; Not a word," said Fieger.

Fieger said he had authorized filing a complaint against Cox with the Michigan Attorney Grievance Commission as well as the U.S. Attorney detailing "his (Cox's) illegal and unethical conduct."

Fieger, who last month said he would seek the Democratic nomination for attorney general in 2006, called upon Cox to resign.

"I forgive you for making false accusations against me," Fieger said. "But you have repeatedly shown yourself to be unworthy of being invested with public trust," he said, "and for that, you must resign."

The grievance commission's deputy said this is a very high-profile case with more public interest — and potential impact — than most of the 4,000 complaints against attorneys the agency typically gets in a year.

Most of those cases are resolved quietly, Edick said. But about 10 percent result in some kind of admonishment or sanctions. "It all depends on the individual case," he said, "and the facts involved."

If and when the commission actually gets complaints from Gorcyca and/or Fieger, each or both would be investigated,

Edick explained, "with additional action determined by the findings."

Should the commission determine there was merit to the complaints from Gorcyca or Fieger, Edick said, they would be presented to Michigan Attorney Discipline Board.

"At that point, our proceedings become public," Edick said. "But until then, we will have no comment."

The discipline board could dismiss the complaints, the deputy administrator said, or, if warranted, it could impose penalties ranging from reprimand to suspension of the attorney's license to practice.

Gorcyca's complaint against Fieger could proceed more quickly, Edick said, because the prosecutor has already done the initial investigation.

The commission wouldn't need to interview people or gather evidence, Edick said. So the process might not take that long, he said.

But thoroughness is more important than speed, Edick said. "There will be no rush to judgment," he said, "but a thoughtful, thorough investigation."

MADONNA REGISTRATION

Madonna University's registration for winter 2006 term will begin Nov. 14 and continues through Tuesday, Dec. 22 for new and returning students. Office hours will be held from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Fridays; and until 7 p.m. on Mondays and Thursdays.

Christmas in the Village is an annual event offering a variety of activities for young and old alike.

Beth Casari's holiday decor combines new ideas and old standbys. The Casari house is one of eight residences featured on the Christmas in the Village Home Tour in Canton Township next week.

Cheer all year

Beth Casari made "package" decorations out of wooden frames and fabric.

Home dressed in bright, light decor

Clauses cavort among a section of balusters and railing that hangs on a wall. Beth Casari painted the balusters.

What's black and white and red all over - and sings with creativity? It's the Casari residence in Canton Township, where Beth Casari has decorated with wonderful whimsy. And the design scheme enhances the holiday decor. (Or is it vice versa? The question could spark a delightful discussion.) Visitors on this year's Christmas in the Village Home Tour will see for themselves.

The Casari house - home to Tom and Beth Casari; their children, Tommy, 5, and Sasha, 4; and cats Easy and Scrapper - is one of eight featured residences. The tour is taking place Friday, Nov. 25 (see related item).

The Casari walls are dressed in such colors as sunny yellow and cheery red, or in black and white striped wallpaper. Trim, balusters and other elements are in sparkling white.

CHRISTMAS IN THE VILLAGE

■ What: An annual event offering a variety of activities for young and old alike.

■ When: A home tour will take place 4-9 p.m. Friday, Nov. 25. Festivities will run noon to 6 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 26.

■ Where: Cherry Hill Village, at the corner of Ridge Road and Cherry Hill Road in Canton Township.

■ Home tour: All of the residences will be beautifully decorated for the holidays. In addition, neighbors will compete in the annual holiday lighting contest.

The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers and Fabulous Furniture sponsors have chosen the winners of a $1,000 shopping spree.

The promotion was part of the Fabulous Furniture sections that ran in October in the Observer & Eccentric.

Here are the winners and the sponsoring stores where their names were drawn: Patricia Heavener of Livonia (Affordable Kitchen & Bath); Anne White of Plymouth (First Choice Floor Covering); Mario and Mary Legnini of Livonia (Independent Carpet Covering); Susan Porter of Plymouth (Laurel Furniture); Susan Handorf of Beverly Hills (Mattress & Futon Shoppe); Sandra Creager of Monroe (McLaughlin's Home Furnishing Designs) and Anna Crawford of Northville (Walker/Buzenberg Fine Furniture).

Stop junk e-mail before it reaches your PC

How of hands, please: Who's fed up to here with spam? Let's see, 324,498, 324,499 - yep, that's all of you.

Spam, a.k.a. junk e-mail, plagues most computer users. I usually receive upward of 150 spam messages per day, sometimes more. Needless to say, that kind of volume can really clog up a mailbox.

It can also waste considerable time - time to download, time to sift through, and time to delete. Bleh!

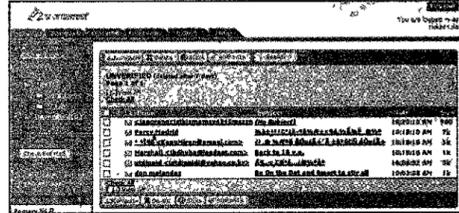

For the last couple of years I've been a faithful user of Mailblocks, which did a superb job of keeping spam off my computer.

Unfortunately, the service was acquired by America Online in 2004, and last month I received notice that the company planned to shut it down. Thus I was forced to seek out an antispam alternative. Happily, it was a successful search. Before I delve into the details, let me tell you about my e-mail setup. I use Outlook Express to pull mail from my personal dot-com domain and a Gmail account.

Know your screwdriver

"Your screwdriver can be your friend. Out in the field under fire, it's a life-saver," say James and Morris Carey, writers for AP Weekly Features.

"Today's tools are stronger, safer, and more useful than ever before. Now you can forget about bent shanks, broken handles, injured wrists and stripped heads.

"Your basic 101 screwdriver has the following: the head, the handle, the shank and the tip. The two most important things to remember when choosing this tool are the material it's made of and how it fits your hand.

"A good grip gives you maximum drive-power; get one that's tough and made of forged steel. A square shank is your secret weapon because you can use it with a wrench for more turning power."

Oh! Christmas trees!

The Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce is again sponsoring the annual Kellogg Park Walk of Christmas Trees.

Any family, club, Scout troop, school class or business interested in decorating a tree should contact the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce now. Call (734) 453-1540.

Cost is $50 per tree. This includes 200 white lights strung on each tree, and a group or company name on a sign.

Decorating days will be Friday-Sunday, Dec. 2-4. Trees will be assigned at random; signs will be in place Dec. 2.

Paint preview

Computer tools are making the paint selection process easier and more enjoyable.

New preview paint sample kits that come with four 8-ounce paint samples, rollers, trays and a designer guide are a consumer favorite.

The preview samples put together by Behr color experts offer six themes based on the latest interior design and style trends.

For inspiration and practical painting tips, visit www.behr.com.

Flower talk

Everyone knows that when you give a rose to a sweetheart it means love, but did you know that a sprig of basil conveys "good wishes"? Or that ivy means "friendship and continuity"? And that tansy symbolizes "hostile thoughts"? (Of course, the latter isn't a message you'd want to send to a significant other.) In the 2006 Old Farmer's Almanac, on sale now wherever books and magazines are sold, you can find the meanings of more than 50 herbs, flowers and trees including the above.

 ■ aloe - healing, protection, affection
 ■ bay - glory
 ■ carnation - alas, for my poor heart
 ■ chamomile - patience
 ■ fern - sincerity
 ■ holly - hope
 ■ honeysuckle - bonds of love

Think safety when decorating for holidays

I find it interesting how holiday decorating has changed over the years.

When I was a kid my dad would bring out strings of lights and ladders, and carefully staple the lights around the outside of the house.

Ask Dad

Harry Jachym

These strings of lights were the big screw-in type bulbs that we seldom see today.

Decorating was only done around the Christmas holiday. Today it seems we decorate our homes for just about any holiday.

Easter, the Fourth of July and Halloween, as well as other holidays, have some sort of outside decorations associated with them.

Thanksgiving decorations are out now and Christmas decorating isn't too far behind.

This column will look at a few tips on how to make your outdoor holiday lighting safer.

EXTENSION CORDS

Extension cords, like all outdoor electrical equipment, should be approved by an independent test organization such as UL (Underwriters Laboratories). The insulation on indoor extension cords isn't designed for the normal abrasion of outside use.

Also, the plastic used to make this insulation is seldom treated to withstand the normal cold temperatures or ultra-violet rays from the sun, which can cause brittleness and cracking of the insulation.

It's also important that the cord be heavy enough to carry the electric current necessary to power the lights.

The wire in the cords is rated by gauge size, the smaller the gauge number, and the thicker the wire. Thicker wire carries more electrical current.

A 14-gauge wire can safely handle about 1,400 watts of power. A 50-lamp string of miniature lights draws about 25 watts and flood lights about 100 watts. Use these figures to help determine the load that will be placed on the cord.

The same rules hold true for a branch circuit. A branch circuit is all the outlets and lighting on one fuse or circuit breaker. A 15-amp branch circuit is rated to safely deliver 1,440 watts of power. Add together the power requirements for the decorating power you'll be drawing from that circuit as well as anything else in the house on that same circuit. Keep it under that 1,440 watts figure.

SETTING OUT DECORATIONS

Damp plug connections can trip GFCIs, blow fuses or worse, cause a shock. Dampness from snow, slush, rain or ground moisture can migrate into connections.

A simple but efficient way to deal with this is to place the cord connection in a small plastic pan made from the bottom of a 1/2-gallon milk jug. Then place the inverted top of a one-gallon milk jug over that and hold it in place with a weight.

Use caution routing cords and light strings. Winter winds can cause enough movement to chafe the insulation from the wire. Bare wires can cause shorts, fire or electric shock.

Never use interior floodlights outside. The thin glass of interior floods is far more likely to break from impact or rain or snow hitting a hot bulb than the heavier glass of outdoor floodlights. Using metal poles to string lights in trees or other high places, unless they're unplugged, has the potential of extreme danger to you. A broken bulb or frayed wire will send the current to you.

Also, be certain to properly set up and use ladders (see the instruction sticker on the side of the ladder), and be especially careful on them if the ground is wet or snow-covered.

Harry Jachym writes Ask Dad, a column on home issues ranging from repairs and maintenance to building and remodeling projects. He is a Plymouth resident. Send any questions or comments to Jachym at askdad@comcast.net or in care of Ken Abramczyk, Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 805 E. Maple, Birmingham 48009.

HOME CALENDAR

Gallery shop

The Ann Arbor Art Gallery's Gallery Shop will feature holiday gifts from Nov. 17 through Dec. 31. The art center is at 117 W. Liberty in downtown Ann Arbor. For more information and the shop's extended holiday hours, call (734) 994-8004, Ext. 118.

A special Holiday Preview will take place 5-9 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 17. The event is open to the public and will feature cocktails, live music and complimentary gift wrapping. Each art center member will receive a 20-percent discount. Non-members may sign up this evening to receive the discount as well.

The Gallery Shop will present an expanded selection of original art work from more than 150 Michigan and regional artists, including musical instruments, handmade wood furniture, jewelry, ceramics, glass and fiber.

All purchases at the shop support the art center's mission and offset costs for its visual arts programs.

Cranbrook Holiday Tables

The event features 21 multiple-themed dining room tables decorated by talented area residents and professionals.

The tables are displayed at Cranbrook House, 380 Lone Pine Road in Bloomfield Hills. Park at the Christ Church Cranbrook lot across from Cranbrook House on Lone Pine Road and take the shuttle to the house.

General admission will be 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Friday-Saturday, Nov. 18-19, noon to 4 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 20.

Tickets are $20 in advance (call (248) 645-3149 to buy), $25 at the door. Patron Teas will take place 9:30-11:30 a.m. and 1:30-4 p.m. Thursday, sponsored by DuMouchelle Art Gallery. The teas will offer a preview of the tables and delectable tea sandwiches and desserts. Tickets are $60 per person.

For ticket reservations and more information, call (248) 645-3149 or visit www.cranbrook.edu.

This year, master potters and glass blowers from Greenfield Village at The Henry Ford complex in Dearborn will handcraft wares for a table display and feature an Arts and Crafts-inspired setting in the Cranbrook House library.

All proceeds benefit the preservation and restoration of Cranbrook House, the home of Cranbrook Educational Community founders George and Ellen Booth.

Holiday Tables

The sixth annual display of beautifully decorated tables for Thanksgiving, New Year, Hanukkah, Christmas and Kwanzaa will be presented by the Farmington Garden Club and sponsored by Steinkopf Nursery.

The event will take place 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 19, and noon to 4 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 20, in Spicer House (Visitors Center) in Heritage Park, on Farmington Road between 10 and 11 Mile in Farmington Hills.

Admission is $5 at the door. For more information, call (248) 615-3616.

The Holiday Cafe will serve complimentary light refreshments and Starbucks coffee. Holiday decorations and goodies will be offered at a boutique. Demonstrations on napkin folding and two different holiday centerpieces will be presented.

The event helps support Farmington Public Schools' Schoolyard Natural Habitat projects.

Festival of Trees event to open Nov. 25

The Festival of Trees, one of the largest fund-raising events benefiting Children's Hospital of Michigan, will have more holiday fun for the entire family this year.

Taking place at the Rock Financial Showplace, the new Novi Expo Center at 46100 Grand River in Novi, the 2005 Festival of Trees will have more than 50,000 additional square feet for trees, displays, exhibits and children's activities.

The 21st Festival of Trees will open Friday, Nov. 25, and run through Sunday, Dec. 4.

The event, all run by volunteers, is a public display of more than 100 professionally designed holiday trees.

It includes an elaborate gingerbread village, handmade wall hangings, wreaths and centerpieces, entertainment for all ages, a festive gift shop, children's activities, photos with Santa, a Secret Santa Shop just for youngsters, and more.

This year, rides for children will be featured.

Proceeds from Festival of Trees will benefit the Maxine and Stuart Frankel Foundation Computer-Assisted Robot-Enhanced surgery program at Children's Hospital of Michigan.

For tickets and more information, visit www.fot.org or call (313) 966-TREE.

The Festival of Trees Gala will take place Saturday, Nov. 26.

Dining and early holiday shopping are on the menu at this event, which will feature live entertainment, dancing and live and silent auctions.

Gala tickets are $250 benefactor (admission 6:30-11 p.m.), $150 reception (admission 7:30-11 p.m.).

GARDEN CALENDAR

Holiday arrangements

Floral classes offered through Schoolcraft College include Floral Arrangements for the Holidays, four Wednesdays beginning Nov. 23 at Schoolcraft's Radcliff Center in Garden City. Fee is $106 ($84.80 for seniors). Fresh flowers and materials will be provided. Bring a knife, wire cutters, scissors and a cutting board. Bruce Boland of Boland Florist will be the instructor. Call Continuing Education and Professional Development at (734) 462-4448 for information. Students will design one Thanksgiving centerpiece and three different Christmas arrangements (one contemporary, one traditional and one door decoration).

Festive welcome

English Gardens hosts free seminars for the holiday season 7 p.m. Wednesdays at its stores in West Bloomfield (phone (248) 851-7506), Royal Oak/Troy (phone (248) 280-9500), Ann Arbor (phone (734) 332-7900) and Clinton Township (phone (586) 286-6100). For more information, call the stores or visit www.englishgardens.com. Festive Front Doors and Entryways will be the topic Nov. 30. Welcome visitors to your home with unusual ideas to decorate your front door and entryway. This seminar will show you how to use wreaths, garlands, greens and ornaments to reflect your own personal style.

School of Gardening

The Michigan School of Gardening offers a variety of classes for different levels at 29429 Six Mile in Livonia, just west of Middlebelt, and at Goldner Walsh Nursery, 559 Orchard Lake Road in Pontiac, north of Square Lake Road and east of Telegraph. Register early. Seating is limited. Some classes have pre-requisites. For more information, call (482) 4-GARDEN or visit www.michigangardening.com. The schedule includes: Presenting Your Design, two Saturdays beginning Nov. 19 in Livonia (fee is $137); Holiday Decorations From Your Garden, Saturday, Nov. 19, in Pontiac ($54); and Focus on Design, Mondays, Nov. 21 to Dec. 12, or Tuesdays, Nov. 22 to Dec. 13, in Livonia ($137).

Holiday wreath

Join in the fun of making a holiday wreath with fresh greens and seasonal decorations, to keep or for a gift, in a class 9 a.m. to noon Saturday, Nov. 19, at the Henry Ford Estate-Fair Lane on the University of Michigan-Dearborn campus. Cost is $35, which includes materials. The class will be taught by a professional florist and is for adults and for age 12 and older accompanied by an adult.

Reservations and pre-pay are required. Limited seating. Call (313) 593-5580 or (313) 593-0514.

Proceeds will benefit the Henry Ford Estate Gardens.

Holly Berry Brunch

The Garden Club of Dearborn will host its ninth annual Holly Berry Brunch fundraiser Saturday, Dec. 3, at the Dearborn Inn.

Tickets are $30 per person. Advance ticket sales continue through Nov. 25, with reserved seating available for groups of 10. To order tickets, call Mary Bugela at (313) 562-7524.

Consisting of a raffle and silent auction beginning at 10 a.m., followed by a brunch, the event is a holiday season kickoff for many local residents and garden club members from throughout Michigan.

Raffle items donated by members and area businesses range from overnighters and entertainment packages to garden benches and garden art. Silent auction items include many antique and handmade pieces.

The event benefits scholarships for students of environmental science and natural science at the University of Michigan and Henry Ford Community College, landscape development projects at Henry Ford Centennial Library and Fair Lane Mansion, the club's Horticulture Therapy program.

A pattern of black and white squares is on the kitchen floor and area rugs. Two other area rugs are covered with a pattern of red strawberries on a black background.

The lively tone is similar to that of the work of Mary Engelbreit, with her deep colors and nostalgic innocence. Engelbreit is Beth Casari's favorite artist, "I love to decorate for Christmas," Beth Casari said. "I love Santas."

She collects Santas, and estimates there are 40 throughout the house for the holiday. These include a variety of figurines and pillows, arranged on walls, shelves, furniture and counter-tops.

"I get more and more every year."

SANTA SIGHTINGS

One room features an almost life-size Santa standing near a window, and three smaller Santas posed among the section of balusters and railing that hangs on a wall. Beth Casari painted the balusters red, yellow and a pattern of white dots on black.

Near the front door, a small Santa from Russia stands in a tiny alcove that has silhouettes of onion-domed, Russian style buildings painted on the back.

Two Santas are fixed in a red rectangle painted on a yellow wall in the entryway.

A parachutist Santa hangs from the pot rack in the kitchen, where other Clauses include a Santa chef and a bell-ringing music box Santa made by Beth's mother.

Also in the kitchen - where a sign, Grand Central Station, hangs over a doorway - are black, wooden chairs around a table. Beth painted teapots and other designs on the seats.

On a living room wall, Casari made "packages" by placing wooden frames around prints that were hanging there and covering them with red or with black and white checked fabric. Red ribbons and ornaments - suggesting gift tags - complete the look.

A white, feathery tree stands in one corner of the living room, bearing black and white ornaments. A green tree dressed in Victorian style ornaments stands in another room, where the Casaris added French doors.

The family has lived in the house for two years.

"We love it here," Beth said.

Rooms are placed in such an angle that she can watch her children in the living room and see someone at the front door while she is in the kitchen, she said.

When selecting houses to be featured on the tour, organizers are "looking for something other than builder's white walls," said Jami Jenkins, Christmas in the Village coordinator. "Something that showed creativity."

The homes have variations in layout and decorating style, she said.

"There are some that are very modern, one that has antiques and more Victorian flair. Two homes have the same floor plan but you would never know it."

People from 44 different communities came to the tour last year, Jenkins said.

OTHER ELEMENTS

The second day of Christmas in the Village offers a variety of activities. The events are provided at minimal cost, Jenkins said.

"We really try to make that our family day," she said.

Among the features will be 10 different crafts for children to make and display in their homes, free entertainment and free carriage rides.

In a tent decorated inside and outside as the Claus home, Mrs. Claus will read and youngsters will enjoy munchies and singing carols.

"It's an opportunity to come together and kick off the holidays," Jenkins said.

Christmas in the Village is created by the Christmas in the Village Association, in cooperation with the Partnership for the Arts and Humanities in Canton Township, with support provided by Canton Leisure Services.

I also have e-mail accounts on Yahoo and a few other services, but I access those directly (on their respective Web sites) and leverage their built-in spam filters (which are pretty mediocre).

When trying to combat spam in Outlook Express (or, for that matter, Outlook), there are two basic ways to go.

First, you can filter it once it reaches your PC, meaning you still have to download all the junk.

Second, you can stop it before it reaches your PC, which I consider a much more efficient method.

Mailblocks was one such "server-side" solution. Whenever someone who wasn't in my address book tried to e-mail me, they'd automatically receive a reply asking them to confirm their identity.

How does this stop spam? The automated systems that spew it out are incapable of answering this simple challenge, so Mailblocks never let their messages through.

Admittedly, this is a bit of a hassle for the sender, but confirmation is required only once, and it's a quick and painless process.

Occasionally, the sender's own spam filter will block the challenge message, creating a kind of unending loop, but there are easy ways around that.

Anyway, I wanted to replace Mailblocks with something similar, and eventually I found it: SpamArrest (www.spamarrest.com).

This service uses an almost identical challenge/response system, allowing only approved messages to reach my PC.

It's a snap to set up, it lets you filter up to five separate accounts, and it supports Web-based mail systems like Hotmail and Yahoo.

What's more, you can easily review (and, if desired, authorize) blocked messages. My only complaint with the service is its price: $34.95 per year.

Of course, if you loathe spam as much as I do, that's a small price to pay to be rid of it for good.

Hot lines for holiday food preparation

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Toll-free telephone services and Web sites offer a variety of specialist answers to cooking and food-safety questions during holiday preparation times.

Here are some of them:

- U.S. Department of Agriculture Meat and Poultry Hotline: (888) 674-6854 or (888) MPHOTline. Food safety specialists answer calls about meat and poultry preparation and cooking questions, year-round Monday to Friday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. EST, except Nov. 24, Thanksgiving Day, when hours will be from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. EST. Recorded information is available 24 hours a day at the same number. Also available in Spanish. On the Net: http://www.fsis.usda.gov/Food\_Safety\_Education/USDA\_meat\_&\_poultry\_hotline Or send e-mail to: mphotline.fsis@usda.gov.
- Butterball Turkey Talk-Line: (800) 288-8372 or (800) BUTTERBALL. Home economists and nutritionists answer holiday cooks' questions, in both English and Spanish, for callers in the United States and Canada. Callers can request a free pamphlet with safety and cooking tips and recipes. ## Talkin' turkey

Chef applies Southern accents to Thanksgiving meal

BY KEN ABRAMCZYK
STAFF WRITER

We all have our favorite ways to prepare Thanksgiving dinner.

You might like a simple cornbread stuffing or one with pork sausage, or you may prefer chicken livers in it or love an oyster stuffing.

Then there's the sweet potatoes or creamy mashed potatoes that grace the table. And what about that green bean casserole?

Peter Engelhardt, executive chef of The Community House in Birmingham, loves a great turkey, and brings much of his Southern flair to the table. He expects to see people that day at their home in Oakland Township.

How's this for a menu? Engelhardt enjoys fresh garlic rosemary turkey, cranberry orange sauce, sweet potato soufflé and Southern style green beans. For dessert, there's cinnamon apple purse.

"This is a menu that I really enjoy," Engelhardt said.

A Rochester native, Engelhardt was exposed to Southern cooking during the 10 years he worked in Atlanta, at Turner Arena Operations (Turner Field and Phillips Arena), the Atlanta Athletic Club and Doubletree Hotel.

The garlic and rosemary are a natural on turkey. "You should use fresh rosemary," Engelhardt said. Dried rosemary can be harder to chew.

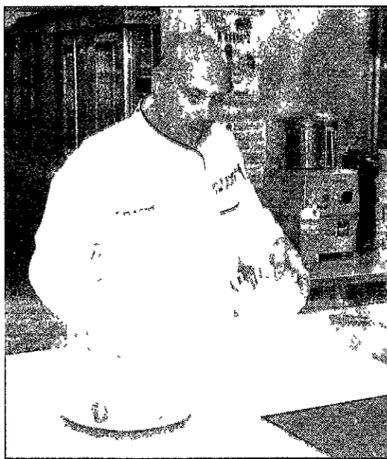

First roast the turkey for about 15 minutes at 400° F, then lower it to 250° F for a slow roast. Allow for 10-15 minutes per pound. (His accompanying recipe calls for a consistent 275° temperature, so you can use either option.)

"The high temperature (400° F) sears the outside and seals in all the juices," Engelhardt said. "Halfway through you can put aluminum foil so the outside isn't too dark."

"The turkey should be basted every 20 to 30 minutes," Engelhardt said.

The cranberry and orange pack a sweet-sour combination with the turkey. "You have the sweetness with the sugar and the orange, and the sour of the cranberries and orange rind," Engelhardt said.

Stuffings can include a favorite breakfast pork sausage, chicken stock and oysters, if desired. "But I really enjoy just having the sweet potato soufflé," Engelhardt said. That soufflé features a topping of pecans and brown sugar for a sweet crunch to balance the soft texture of the potatoes.

The turkey should be cooked to 165° F, using an instant-read thermometer on the meatiest part of the thigh to check for doneness, Engelhardt said.

Let the turkey sit for 20 minutes before cutting. "Get it off the bone, too," he said, if you are storing turkey leftovers. "You can use the carcass for soup the next day."

Making gravy for the turkey? Make sure the roux (flour, drippings and butter) and stock are hot before you mix them. "If both are hot, then nine times out of 10 you won't have lumps," Engelhardt said. Mix a wine (whatever you're serving, such as a chardonnay) into the gravy.

Engelhardt mixes 4 ounces of a combination of drippings and butter with 4 ounces of flour to 1 quart of stock.

The beans cooked with a ham hock are among his favorites. "It's really a Southern-style dish," he said. The beans are very soft because they cook for four hours.

For dessert, the apple purse is like an apple pie in phyllo dough. Engelhardt said Granny Smiths, Cortland or McIntosh apples are probably the best for this recipe. "Cooks lean toward these because they're pretty tart," Engelhardt said. "Stay away from the reds."

Tradition with a twist: Try this glaze

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Traditional, but with a twist. Isn't that the kind of inspiration, the interestingly varied recipes for the Meal of the Day, that cooks hope will come their way as Thanksgiving nears?

Also, you can be a cooking-promoting, please - let it be fairly simple, not too much shopping. And still recognizable. Any "twist" should not shock those who really prefer tradition to predominate.

So, take a look at this variation in the presentation of Thanksgiving's anchor, symbol of the day, major taste and perennial standby: the turkey. Here's the plan: Let's glaze it.

The bird will look picture-perfect - the glaze gives it a great, dark-gold glow. The taste of the meat will reflect the ingredients of its barbecue-style glaze with offbeat accents of cumin, and coffee (showing up these days as an ingredient in unfamiliar contexts). Barbecue, of course, has a history and popularity totally in the spirit of the day.

HYDE PARK, N.Y. (AP) - When it comes to Thanksgiving dinner, traditional recipes are hard to beat. They're familiar and reliable, and everyone expects to see them on the table each year. However, while there may be comfort in the routine, there is also the intrigue of trying something new.

There's no need to swap the turkey for pot roast or say goodbye to the beloved cranberry relish. Instead, add a few new side dishes to this year's feast. Side dishes and accompaniments can include any number of dishes made from vegetables, grains, pasta or potatoes that serve to enhance and

Through the University of Colorado, Heron spent her junior year in France and became fluent in French. After earning a first degree, she returned to France and enrolled in the Institute of Enology in

There she met two young Frenchmen. One man's family had an old-vine merlot vineyard and that family also had a winery next door that she used to make her first wine. She now has a 20-year lease on a single vineyard property in St. Chinian, a top area of the Languedoc region (Vin de Pays d'Oc) which she calls "the Wild West of France." From that source, she makes her French merlot, which launched in the United States in 1995.

Give your stuffing something extra

BY DANA JACOBI
AMERICAN INSTITUTE FOR CANCER RESEARCH

On Thanksgiving Day, turkey is the traditional star. But as frequently happens in show business, the supporting cast of side dishes usually steals the show at Thanksgiving dinner. Among them, stuffing is always most popular at our house.

Or dressing, as we have always called it, probably because in my family it is baked on its own rather than being stuffed inside the turkey. My grandmother and mother both prepared dressing this way. They felt the fat from the bird made the stuffing soggy, heavy and hard to digest. When baked on its own, the dressing remains moist and substantial but still light.

Recently, I learned that most Southerners call this side dish "dressing" whether or not it's stuffed inside the bird. If you live west of the Mississippi, this word choice is like using "green onions" to refer to what Easterners call scallions — a regional habit. South of the Mason-Dixon line, this favorite side dish is called dressing because back in Victorian times, genteel Southerners felt that, used in mixed company, the word stuffing lacked propriety.

AMERICAN INSTITUTE FOR CANCER RESEARCH

Using whole-grain bread and lots of "add-ins" can make dressing a healthy choice. This dressing combines whole-wheat bread with a lavish amount of fruits, vegetables and nuts.

- chopped
- 1 small onion, chopped
- 1 cup finely chopped scallions
- 2 medium Granny Smith apples, cored and chopped
- 1 cup seedless green grapes, quartered
- 1 tablespoon poultry seasoning
- 2 large eggs, beaten
- 1/2 cup finely chopped walnuts
- Salt and freshly ground black pepper
- 1-1/2 cups fat-free, low-sodium chicken broth

Spread the bread cubes in one layer on a baking sheet and leave them out overnight to dry. Or, toast the cubes in a 350° F oven, stirring several times, until dry, 20-30 minutes. Place them in large mixing bowl.

Preheat the oven to 350° F. Coat a 9- by 13-inch square baking pan with cooking spray.

Heat the oil in a medium skillet over medium-high heat. Sauté the celery, leek, onion and scallions until soft, about 5 minutes. Mix in the apples and grapes to coat them with oil. Add this mixture to the bread cubes. Add the poultry seasoning, eggs, nuts and a light sprinkling of salt and pepper. Toss with a fork to blend. Pour in 1 cup of the broth. Mix until dressing is moist but not soggy, adding more broth as needed. Pack the dressing firmly into the prepared pan and cover with foil.

Bake the dressing 30 to 40 minutes. Uncover and set aside for 15 minutes before serving. Check flavors and add salt and pepper to taste, if desired.

Makes 12 servings. Per serving: 121 calories, 4 g. total fat (less than 1 g. saturated fat), 18 g. carbohydrate, 4 g. protein, 3 g. dietary fiber, 187 mg. sodium.

Another favorite to use on turkey is a combination of paper-thin slices of orange and lemon, plus fresh herbs. The citrus bastes the meat moist, while the bird's skin holds all the flavors in place.

Try a juicy baste for your bird

AMERICAN INSTITUTE FOR CANCER RESEARCH

Perhaps the most challenging aspect of roasting a Thanksgiving Day turkey is producing a moist, succulent breast. Because the turkey breast cooks much faster than the thigh or leg, those interested only in the white meat often buy just the breast. But retaining succulent moistness until the breast is fully cooked can still be a challenge. Some chefs try to avoid this problem by first soaking the meat in a solution of salty water to which sugar, spices and herbs are added for extra flavor.

But the entire process is lengthy and a bit of a nuisance. The turkey can taste as if it had been drowned in salt, and the other flavors do not penetrate beyond the surface. There is, however, another technique that preserves the juiciness of the breast, whether cooked separately or as part of an entire bird.

The trick is to slip flavorful seasonings under the skin of the breast. Among many options are fresh or dried herbs, alone or whirled into a pesto-like paste, a commercial product like Thai chili paste, or goat cheese blended with dried herbs. Deep-pocket cooks use slices of truffles or morels for an opulent touch, while the more economical prefer dried shiitake mushrooms, first lightly soaked, which impart a delicately earthy, smoky flavor.

Another favorite is a combination of paper-thin slices of orange and lemon, plus fresh herbs. The citrus bastes and keeps the meat moist, while the bird's skin holds all the flavors in place.

and lemon, plus fresh herbs. The citrus bastes and keeps the meat moist, while the bird's skin holds all the flavors in place.

CITRUS AND HERB TURKEY BREAST

- 1 large carrot, cut into thick slices
- 1 large celery rib, roughly diced
- 1 large leek (white and green part), sliced thin, lengthwise
- 1 large onion, cut into small chunks
- 1 small whole turkey breast, with ribs
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 8-10 fresh thyme sprigs, or 1/4 teaspoon dried
- 4 thin lemon slices, cut from center of fruit
- 2 thin orange slices, cut from center of fruit
- Canola oil spray
- 1 cup fat-free, reduced sodium chicken broth

Set a rack in the center of the oven. Preheat the oven to 350° F. In a roasting pan just large enough to hold the turkey, arrange the carrots, celery, leek and onion to serve as a base or bed on which to roast the turkey.

Using the fingers of one hand to slide under the turkey breast skin near the neck and gently pry it from the meat, use the other hand to gently lift up the skin as it releases from the meat, taking care not to tear the skin, until all the breast skin is loosened from the meat.

Rub or sprinkle the salt on the exposed breast meat. Add the thyme. On one side of the breast, insert a lemon slice, sliding it to the back, adding a second slice to the front. Dana Jacobi is the author of The Joy of Soy and recipe creator for the American Institute for Cancer Research's Stopping Cancer Before It Starts.

slice, keeping the herb under the citrus as much as possible. Repeat on the other side of the breast. Gently pulling the loosened skin, pat it down so it nearly reaches the neck.

Coat the skin generously with cooking spray and set the breast on the bed of vegetables, arranging them to hold it upright. Place the pan on the oven rack. Add the broth. Roast until an instant-read thermometer (inserted into the thickest part of the breast and not touching the bone) registers 165° F (about 20 minutes per pound). If the skin is browning too quickly or too much, loosely tent the breast with foil. Remove the breast to a platter and let it rest 20 minutes.

Meanwhile, pour the pan juices into a gravy strainer or measuring cup. Chill to allow fat to rise to the surface. Transfer vegetables to a blender and puree, then press through a sieve to extract juices into a small bowl. (This step may be omitted.) Discard the vegetables. Skim and discard the congealed fat and stir in the vegetable juices. Gently reheat in a microwave or transfer to a small pan to reheat stove-top. When ready to serve, transfer to a small pitcher.

Remove the skin, citrus and herbs from the turkey and carve into slices to serve with juices.

Makes 6 servings. Per serving: 180 calories, 1 g. total fat (0 g. saturated fat), 6 g. carbohydrate, 36 g. protein, 1 g. dietary fiber, 358 mg. sodium.

cooked on an outdoor grill, too, adjusting timing as needed according to whether you're grilling with gas or charcoal.

The turkey is unstuffed, she said, because over the years Butterball that has been operating its consumer "hotlines," they've recently noticed that more of the people who call in have mentioned they prefer not to stuff the turkey, although this isn't a scientific survey.

The practice seems to vary according to where people live, Clausen said, speaking by phone from her office in Naperville, Ill. It appears more common to stuff the turkey in the Northeast and Central part of the country than in the South and West. Asked why people may be leaving the stuffing out nowadays, Clausen suggested it may be because it's faster and easier for both cooking and serving.

GLAZED TURKEY

(Preparation 20 minutes, total time 4 hours)

1/4 cup sweet barbecue sauce
2 tablespoons light corn syrup
1/2 teaspoon instant coffee crystals
1/2 teaspoon ground cumin
2 teaspoons butter or margarine
14-pound turkey, thawed if frozen
Nonstick cooking spray

Preheat oven to 325° F.

Combine barbecue sauce, corn syrup, coffee and cumin in glass measuring cup. Microwave on High 1 minute, stirring once, or until coffee is dissolved. Add butter or margarine and stir until melted. Set glaze aside to cool.

Remove neck and giblets from body and neck cavities of turkey; refrigerate for another use or discard. Drain juices from turkey; pat dry with paper towels. Turn wings back to hold neck skin against back of turkey. Place turkey, breast up, on flat roasting rack in shallow roasting pan. Spray turkey with cooking spray.

Bake turkey at 325° F for 2 hours. Brush turkey with some of the glaze. Loosely cover breast and tops of drumsticks with aluminum foil to prevent overcooking of breast and glaze from darkening too much.

Continue baking turkey 1 to 1 1/2 hours, or until meat thermometer reaches 180° F when inserted in deepest part of thigh, brushing with additional glaze after 30 minutes. Let turkey stand 15 minutes before carving. Makes 14 servings (6 ounces each).

FRESH GARLIC ROSEMARY TURKEY

18-20-pound turkey
2 cups honey Dijon
1 head garlic, peeled and chopped
3 sprigs fresh rosemary
1 tablespoon kosher salt
1 tablespoon coarse black pepper

Season inside of turkey with salt, pepper and garlic.

Place turkey in roasting pan, breast side up.

Brush liberally with the honey Dijon.

Sprinkle with salt, pepper, garlic and rosemary.

Roast at 275° F for 4 hours or internal temperature of 165° F.

CRANBERRY ORANGE SAUCE

3 cups cranberries
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon ground ginger
1 navel orange, washed and cut into wedges
1 cup orange juice

Pulse first 4 ingredients in cuisinart.

Add to saucepan and cook over medium-high heat for 5 minutes.

Add orange juice and simmer for 5 minutes, let cool.

SWEET POTATO SOUFFLÉ

1 #10 can (or 6 1/2 to 7 pounds, 5 ounces or 13 cups) sweet potato, drained

1 1/2 cups sugar
1/2 pound butter, melted
1/2 cup evaporated milk
1 tablespoon vanilla

Whip all ingredients together well. Pour into greased 9-by-9-by-2-inch pan.

Topping:

1 cup flour
1 cup butter, melted
3 cups brown sugar
3 cups pecan pieces

Mix all ingredients together.

Sprinkle evenly on top of sweet potato mix.

Bake at 325° F for 2 hours or until firm.

SOUTHERN STYLE GREEN BEANS

3 pounds flat Italian green beans, peeled, cut in half
1 large onion, chopped
1 ham hock
2 bay leaves
2 quarts water

Place all ingredients in saucepan, simmer for 4 hours.

Once tender, drain beans and season with salt and pepper.

CINNAMON APPLE PURSE

8 Granny Smith apples, peeled and sliced

2 tablespoons butter
1 1/2 cups sugar
1 tablespoon cinnamon
2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons butter, softened
16 phyllo sheets
1 cup butter, melted

In a sauté pan, melt butter and add apples, cook until tender.

In a mixing bowl, combine apples, sugar, cinnamon and flour, mix well, reserve.

On a table lay four sheets of phyllo dough, brush each sheet lightly with butter, and stack.

Repeat second paragraph instructions. Divide apple mixes each in half and spoon onto the 4 half phyllo doughs. Place 1 teaspoon butter on top of each apple stack.

Gather each corner toward center and make a bundle. Bake in 350° F oven for about 10 minutes or until golden.

On a dessert plate place one bundle and garnish with vanilla ice cream.

WHAT TO BUY

Heron wines to buy now (all under $15):

2004 Heron California Chardonnay ($12) highlights apple fruit from aroma to finish in a well-balanced wine with a touch of French oak.

2002 California Pinot Noir ($13) has pretty aromas of bright cherry. Fresh, generous and immediately accessible, it finishes with a touch of oak.

With prices of pinot noir soaring, buy up on this wine.

2002 Heron Vin de Pays d'Oc Merlot ($12) is a sophisticated velvety and deliciously balanced wine.

2003 Heron California Syrah ($13) sports lush black and red fruits with a fine touch of oak and good grip. Mellow, smooth and delicious.

2002 Heron California Cabernet Sauvignon ($13) opens with a whiff of cigar box and dark fruits. A full middle is followed by a generous and lush finish.

Chiefs earn spot in district hoop title game

BY ED WRIGHT
STAFF WRITER

Canton girls basketball coach Brian Samulski tagged junior guard Becci Houdek with the nickname "Go-Go Gadget Arms" earlier this season.

Salem found out why in Wednesday's Class A district semifinal showdown at Novi High School.

The long-armed Houdek recorded seven steals and several turnover-inducing deflections to lead the Chiefs to a 37-25 victory over the Rocks. With the win, Canton advanced to Friday night's district final against the winner of Wednesday's late game between Novi and South Lyon. Tip-off is set for 7 p.m.

Houdek also tallied a game-high 14 points and five rebounds. Junior forward Ja'nee Morton also played well for Canton, notching 10 points and seven boards.

"Becci's arms seem like they go on forever, especially when she's guarding you," Samulski said, explaining the nickname.

"She played well tonight at both ends of the court."

While Houdek's stats were impressive, the most telling numbers could be found in the turnover category. The Rocks committed 17 miscues while the Chiefs gave the ball away just twice.

"You can't expect to beat a team like Canton when you turn the ball over as much as we did tonight," said Salem coach Fred Thomann. "But give them credit — they have a good team and they played well tonight."

"We finished 17-4, so we had a good season. There were only a couple of games — tonight's loss and our loss to Livonia Franklin (in the first round of the Western Lakes Activities Association tournament) — when I didn't think we played well."

Houdek's performance Wednesday was inspiring considering she sat out most of the second half of Monday's victory over Northville due to complications from a pair of medical conditions she's battling through: asthma and Sydenham's Chorea, a neurologic disorder that is characterized by irregular, abrupt and involuntary muscle movements.

"I actually passed out two or three times Monday," said Houdek, who was suffering the effects of both the Sydenham's Chorea and asthma. "I had some tests run Tuesday and they all came back good. I didn't practice yesterday and I felt a lot better today."

"We lost to Salem last year in the districts, so it was nice beating them tonight."

Early-game jitters limited both teams' offensive effectiveness. The first points were scored when Salem's Teresa Coppelli converted a layup with 3:30 left in the first quarter.

The shooting heated up in the second stanza, which ended with Canton in front, 16-12. Houdek had a sizzling first 16 minutes, netting 11 of her 14 points and five thefts.

Single free throws by Morton and Leslie Olech, and a fast-break layup by Morton extended Canton's advantage to 20-12 three minutes into the second half. After the Rocks' Alaya Mitchell laid in a soft runner at the 4:50 mark of the third quarter, Canton went on a 9-2 run to secure a 29-16 lead with eight minutes to play.

The Rocks rallied to within 32-25 on a Lauren Kurtz free throw with 4:06 left, but the Chiefs countered by tallying the game's final five points.

Mitchell led Salem with seven points. Junior forward Tayler Langham added six and Coppelliie notched five points and nine boards.

Olech had a strong game for Canton, recording seven points and three rebounds. Lisa Ealy, the Chiefs' leading scorer this season, netted just three points, but she did a stellar job holding Coppelliie to five points.

Canton canned 13-of-21 free throws (61 percent) while Salem connected on 3-of-7 (43 percent).

Sidelines

Playoffs coverage

Due to deadline restrictions, Saturday's Canton-Macomb Dakota Division 1 semi-final prep football game story and photos will appear in the Nov. 24 edition of the Observer.

The story and photos will be available on the Web site www.hometownlife.com as early as Sunday morning.

'Skins edge Lions

The Canton Lions junior league freshmen football team lost its bid for a fourth straight Super Bowl title Sunday, bowing to the Rochester Redskins, 27-6. The Lions defense struggled against the different sets of the Rochester offense.

The Lions made it a game when Malcolm Hollingsworth scored late in the third quarter, cutting Rochester's lead to 14-6. However, the Redskins scored on their next two possessions to put the game out of reach.

Standouts for the Lions were Devin Slominski, Brandon Lee, Shane Raymond, Michael San Millan and Kyle Durham.

Steelers fall

The Plymouth-Canton Steelers junior varsity team played Sunday in the WSJFL Super Bowl at Canton High School against the Ypsilanti Braves. The game was scoreless until the final minutes of the fourth quarter when the Braves managed to score the lone touchdown and win 6-0.

Steeler quarterback Ben Merbler led the offense in both rushing and passing yards. The offense was supported by the tough play of Michael Olevnick, Tyler Kelly and Nick Tata. The Steelers' "Ironman" — Tyler Goble — played well on both sides of the line of scrimmage.

Patrick Salo, Tony Rhodes, Brennen Beyer, Sam Scott and Scott Devine excelled for the Steelers' defense.

With four minutes left in the fourth quarter the Braves scored on a quarterback sneak.

Wrestling club

Practice for Salem's 2006 Team Chippewa begins Thursday, Dec. 1, in the Salem High School wrestling room. Team Chippewa will be participating in the Michigan Youth Wrestling Association (MYWAY) season, which begins in January. Registration for the team is free. Kids 15 and under are eligible to compete.

For more information, call (734) 239-2922.

Lady Ocelots 2-0

The Schoolcraft College women's basketball team is off to a 2-0 start following a two-game sweep last weekend of the Owens Community College Tip-Off Classic.

The Lady Ocelots opened their season Friday with a lopsided 95-53 win over the Ohio State University Club followed by a 100-70 triumph over the host Owens on Saturday in the championship final.

Free throws with 0:00 on clock end Wildcats' season

BY ED WRIGHT
STAFF WRITER

If a scale existed that measured heart-breaking losses, Plymouth's 34-33 setback to Novi in Monday night's Class A district tournament opener would be off the charts.

Novi senior forward Rachel Folino calmly swished two-of-three free throws with no time on the clock and no other players on the court to send her team into Wednesday night's semi-final game against South Lyon.

Plymouth, which trailed throughout most of the game, grabbed the lead, 33-32, with 2.8 seconds left when senior Colleen Flaherty converted a short lay-up off a pass from Jeanine Moise.

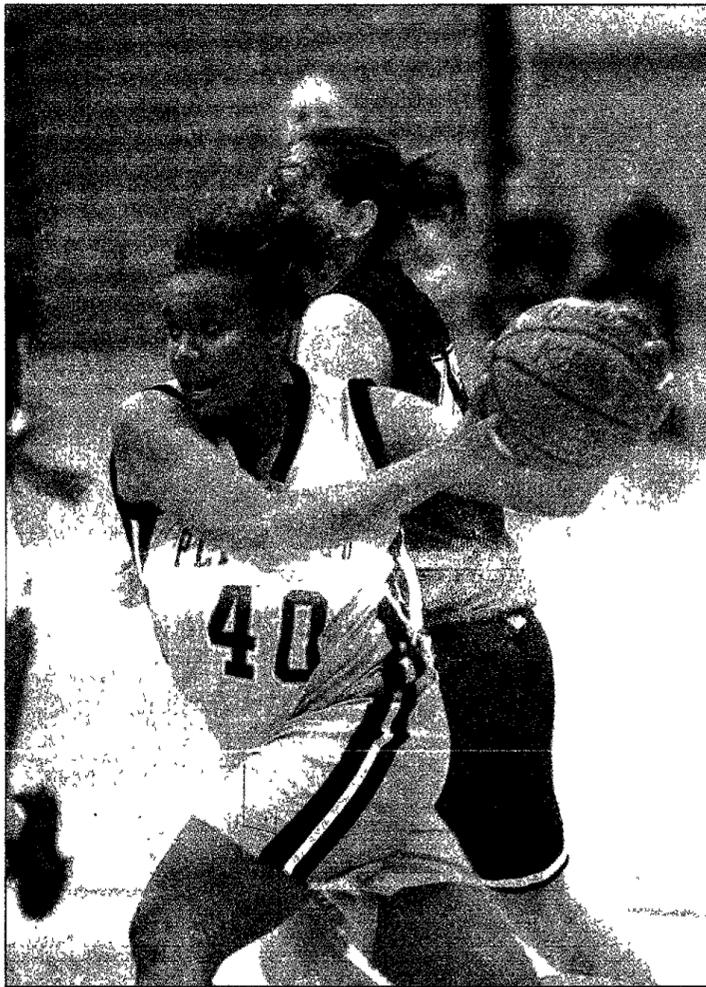

Novi coach Bill Kelp called a time-out with 1.2 seconds remaining to set up the eventual game-winning play.

"We set two back screens for the girls going deep, and we made a great in-bounds pass to Rachel," said Kelp. "Rachel's been struggling lately at the line, but she's a Division 1 player and showed why tonight."

Kelp said the ending was the craziest he's ever seen in a game he's coached.

"By far," he emphasized, still shaking his head. "I was definitely praying at the end."

Terry-led Whalers nip London, 3-2

Plymouth Whaler rookie Chris Terry's encores are as good as his premiers.

For the second straight Saturday night, Terry scored the deciding goal in a shoot-out Nov. 12, giving the Whalers an exciting 3-2 victory over London before 2,974 at the Compuware Sports Arena.

The Plymouth victory — coupled with Saginaw's 3-0 loss in Belleville — moved the Whalers into a first-place tie with the Spirit in the Ontario Hockey League's West Division. Plymouth's record is now 12-6-1-1 while Saginaw is 13-5-0-0.

The setback snapped a five-game winning streak for London, which slipped to 13-6-0-0. Mike Letizia and Dan Collins tallied power-play goals for the winners. Rob Schremp scored both Knight goals.

The evening belonged to the goal-tenders. Plymouth's Ryan Nie stopped 44-of-46 shots through 65 minutes and three more in the shoot-out for his eighth win of the season. London's Adam Dennis stopped 43 of 45 shots and two of four in the extra session.

After neither team could find the net in the five-minute overtime, Dave Bolland scored on London's first shot in the shoot-out. But Nie stopped Dylan Hunter and Schremp, and Sergei Kostitsyn lost the handle on the puck and never got a shot off.

Baechler molds Canton football program into state powerhouse

SEMIFINAL SHOWDOWN

■ What: Macomb Dakota (10-2) vs. Canton (10-2)

■ When: Saturday, 1 p.m.

■ Where: Troy Athens High School, 4333 John R., Troy, MI

■ What's at stake: The winner advances to the Nov. 26 Division 1 final against the winner of Saturday's Rockford-Brighton game in Lansing.

■ About Dakota: Cougars have advanced to semi-final round three of past four years, but have never made it to the final game.

Quarterback James Stallons has thrown for over 1,900 yards this season.

"Can a new coach rebuild?" asked the big, bold headline at the top of the Plymouth/Canton Observer sports section on June 7, 1998.

The question referred to new Canton football coach Tim Baechler, who had been hired a few weeks earlier to succeed the retiring Bob Khoelne.

Sixty-four wins and six straight playoff appearances later, the answer to the question is a resounding "yes," but Baechler will be the first one to admit the answer didn't come easy.

Baechler, who was 31 at the time he was hired, was taking over a struggling program that had finished 1-8 the previous year — and he was leaving a thriving Hudson program that he had just spent five years reviving.

While the rebuilding process has been satisfying, it couldn't have been completed without the spilling of a lot of blood, sweat and tears.

"My first year here we had about 30 kids come out for the team," Baechler remembered. "We weren't real strong, we weren't real fast and we weren't very athletic. The first thing the players said to me was, 'We're going to beat Salem this year.' That was what was most important to them — beating Salem. I said, 'What about the eight games before that?' We had to change their focus."

'I' BEFORE 'T'?

Baechler, whose offensive expertise was the full-house,

Wing-T formation, was determined to try something different at Canton, a large, 2,000-student Division 1 school.

"When I got here, I was going to run the 'T' formation," Baechler said. "It was a big school, so I figured we'd have no problem filling all the skill positions.

"Back then, we had two pre-season scrimmages. We did OK with the 'T' in the first scrimmage, but before the second one, we went and watched

We beat a very good team tonight.
The stinging loss ended a glowing season for Plymouth, which finished 16-5 and earned a share of the Western Lakes Activities Association title.

"I'm super proud of the kids' effort tonight," said Plymouth coach Richelle Reilly. "They battled and made things happen in the second half to put us in a position to win."

"I thought we did enough to win tonight. It's a hard loss to swallow."

Despite the loss, Reilly said her Wildcats should feel a huge sense of accomplishment.

"Overall, I thought we met and exceeded expectations this season," she said. "We had great senior leadership this year and — although it may be hard for the girls to see it right now — they had a great year and should feel proud."

Reilly said it appeared to her that her players did everything right during the game's final seconds.

"We told the girls to make sure the Novi players caught the ball in front of them, which they did," Reilly said. "We had a foul to give, so we wanted them to foul during the catch. To me, it didn't look like (Folino) was shooting when she was fouled. It looked like she was still on the floor. If they call the foul on the floor, they have less than a second left and they have to take it out of bounds."

Folino finished with 13 to lead all scorers. Senior forward Nicole Stephen added eight for Novi, while senior guard Hope Morris scored five clutch points, all in the games final three minutes.

Playing in her final high school game, Plymouth's Jeanine Moise scored 12 and grabbed 10 rebounds. Flaherty added nine while Jalesa Moise and Kim Olech both contributed four.

Monday's game between the two highly successful teams lived up to its pre-game expectations as the intensity level often matched that felt in a district final game. Neither team led by more than three points after the opening seconds of the second quarter.

Novi, which was playing on its home court, raced to an early 9-0 advantage before Plymouth rebounded to cut its deficit to 13-8 after one quarter. The visiting Wildcats led briefly, 16-15, when Flaherty scored on a strong move with 45 seconds to go in the first half, but Novi took a 17-16 lead into the intermission thanks to Taylor Graybiel's late basket.

Only 11 total points were scored in the defensive third quarter, which ended with Novi ahead, 23-21.

Plymouth led, 30-27, with 2:55 left thanks to a driving bank-shot by Jalesa Moise. However, Novi answered at the 1:12 mark when Morris sprung off a screen and drained a long triple to tie it at 30-30.

After a Jeanine Moise free throw put Plymouth up, 31-30, with 44.1 seconds to go, Morris struck again when she drove down the heart of the lane and finished with a left-handed lay-up to give Novi a 32-31 advantage with 32.3 seconds to play.

"Hope made a couple of huge senior plays for us at the end," Kelp said. "The three was a set play, but she made the drive happen on her own. She's more of an outside shooter, so that drive was a big move."

With 25 seconds left, Folino stole the ball, but lost it right back to a hustling Jeanine Moise with 18.4 on the clock. Reilly then called a time-out to set up a potential game-winning play.

Following three passes, Jeanine Moise got the ball nine feet from the basket just inside the paint. When Novi's defense collapsed on her, Moise dished the ball to a driving Flaherty who banked in a runner to give Plymouth a 33-32 lead.

After a Kelp time-out, Folino performed her last-second heroics, sparking a mad rush onto the court by her deliriously happy teammates.

Plymouth hit 14-of-38 field goals (36.8) and 3-of-8 free throws (37.5 percent). Novi connected on 13-of-45 shots (28.8 percent) and 7-of-12 free throws (58.3 percent).

Plymouth committed 18 turnovers; Novi had 11 miscues.

Martin's clutch plays lead Canton girls

STAFF WRITER

Things were deteriorating rapidly for Canton's girls basketball team during the final minutes of Monday night's district opener against Northville.

The Chiefs' once seemingly insurmountable 16-point lead had disappeared, starting point guard Becci Houdek was laying flat on her back on the bench suffering from the effects of a medical condition, and her back-court mate, Kelsy Zemanski, fouled out with 2:19 to play.

Instead of "Panic Time," the final two minutes turned into "Marie Martin Time" for Canton.

Seconds after Martin replaced Zemanski, she grabbed an offensive rebound and deposited the ball into the basket to give Canton a 38-32 lead with 1:48 left. Thirty seconds later, the sophomore center drew a charge on Northville's Simone Toney at the other end.

The two plays were instrumental in Canton's 44-35 victory.

"I was a little nervous when I went in for Kelsy because the game was so close," Martin said. "But I was excited to get a chance to play, too. After I made the shot, I just wanted to go down and play good defense. I think that's the first charge I've ever drawn in a game."

The victory propelled the 17-4 Chiefs into Wednesday night's district title game against Salem. The loss ended the Mustangs' season at 12-9.

"Marie really stepped up and made some big plays when we needed them," said Canton coach Brian Samulski. "The offensive rebound she scored on and the charge she drew came at a pivotal point of the game. I thought our free throw shooting down the stretch was a big key, too."

Canton was clearly the better team Monday when both squads were at full strength. The Chiefs turned a 7-5 lead after one quarter into a 21-9 halftime bulge. Lisa Ealy led the first-half onslaught for Canton, scoring eight points.

The Chiefs' biggest lead of the night came 1:15 into the third quarter when Ja'nee Morton's fast-break lay-up put them ahead, 25-9.

The Mustangs worked their way back into the game when Toney drained three-triples during a four-minute stretch of the third quarter to whittle Canton's lead to 27-20. The run also coincided with the departure of Houdek, whose absence was reflected in Canton's 10 third-quarter turnovers. As a result of the miscues, the Chiefs attempted just five shots compared to Northville's 20 during the third stanza, which ended with Canton grasping to a 28-24 advantage.

Northville completed its comeback with 5:39 to play when sophomore Sarah Stern scored on a drive to knot the game at 32-32.

The Chiefs regained the lead for good, 34-32, 50 seconds later on a pair of free throws from Morton.

After regaining possession of the ball, the Chiefs switched to a semi-stall offense at the four-minute mark. The slow-down worked as Canton outscored the Mustangs 11-3 the rest of the way.

"We run a four-on-four drill like that with no dribbling every day in practice," Samulski said. "We shoot only when we get a good look."

Canton was 12-for-17 from the free throw line during the pivotal fourth quarter. Junior guard Lauren Delapaz swished all four of her free throws. She also grabbed six rebounds.

Lisa Ealy led the Chiefs with 15 points and five rebounds. Morton netted 14 points and three boards while Houdek contributed five points before leaving.

Simone Toney led Northville with 11 points. Her sister, Danielle, added 10 and Stern chipped in with seven.

"We've had a couple games like this this year where we've fallen behind early then had to fight back," said Northville coach Pete Wright. "It just shows you that these girls never quit, they're never out of it."

The Mustangs out-shot Canton, 28-9, in the second half and 48-24 throughout the game. The Chiefs were on fire, shooting at a 50-percent clip from the field (12-for-24) and 68 percent from the line (19-for-28).

New roster, same results are expected from SC lady cagers

BY TIM SMITH
STAFF WRITER

This year's edition of the Schoolcraft College women's basketball team will look a lot different than last winter's squad, which returns only four players.

But Lady Ocelots head coach Karen Lafata is expecting the same kind of success. So are some national pundits, who selected Schoolcraft ninth in the National Junior College Athletic Association preseason poll.

"I think we can contend for the championship again," said Lafata, whose 2004-05 team went 24-7, winning the Michigan Community College Athletic Association championship and advancing to the NJCAA Division II District finals. "With Char (Greer) and Mikki (Mikkio Williams), we have our two top scorers back."

Greer, a 5-9 sophomore forward, averaged 18 points and nine rebounds in '04-05 while 5-5 guard Williams contributed 10 points and nearly five steals per outing last year.

Also back for the Lady Ocelots are sophomore guard Tracey Winkler and sophomore forward and captain Price (Wayne Memorial), who Lafata said looked impressive in pre-season workouts. Winkler and Price likely will start for Schoolcraft, with sophomore transfer Tomica Hodge (5-9 guard from Tennessee) pushing them for playing time.

Hodge was part of the Walters State (Tenn.) team that went to the Division I national tournament.

"She's coming with a lot of experience," said Lafata, who will play Hodge as a top reserve or starter, depending on how games unfold.

Winkler (5'11") and Price alum Alisha June (6-0 forward-center) leads a solid group of freshmen, helping fill the void from the losses of Westland John Glenn alum Sara Ytree (nine ppg, six rebounds), Erika Mims (six ppg), Ashley Gibson (10 ppg, six assists) and Amantha Combs to graduation.

"She (June) will be backing up at both positions (forward, center) and she just works really hard," said Lafata, adding that June is completely healed from an ankle injury she suffered as a senior at Golden State.

Other reserves include 5-11 freshman forward Maricka Seay, 6-3 freshman center Lauren Braun, 5-11 freshman forward Amanda Giffin, 5-9 freshman forward Ericka Brewer (Belleville), 5-8 freshman forward LaShanda Thomas and 6-0 freshman forward-center Amanda Crouse.

"I'm really pleased early on with our freshmen and their work ethic," Lafata said.

Even though the team lost a lot of experience, Lafata likes what she sees in terms of potential as well as depth in the low post.

"With our skill and potential," she said, "we should be right there, battling for the conference, regional and state championships."

After playing several road games, beginning Friday at the Tip-Off Classic hosted by Owens Community College, the Lady Ocelots won't play at home until Friday, Dec. 2, as part of the Schoolcraft College Invitational.

Talented underclassmen highlight boys cross country team

FIRST TEAM

Dan Kapadia, Sr., Salem: Kapadia capped a stellar career for the Rocks by finishing fourth in the Division 1 state meet (15:45).

He also captured the Western Lakes Activities Association meet (15:53) and was runner-up at the D-1 regional race (16:05) and Wayne County competition (16:13). The captain, who will graduate as the second-best male cross country runner in Salem history, was a three-time state qualifier, finishing 41st in 2004 and 104th in 2003.

"Dan has worked hard his entire career," said coach Geoff Baker. "He runs big in big races."

Timothy Howse, Sr., Liv. Churchill: Howse enjoyed a memorable senior season, winning three meets (Livonia City, Wayne County and Division 1 regional) and finishing in the top six in five others. A captain, Howse was a four-year letter winner, a three-time scholar athlete and a two-year state qualifier.

"Timothy has had a wonderful cross country career at Churchill," said Churchill coach John McGreevy. "He is a student of running and came into this season well-prepared to compete with the best. He ran a near-perfect race at the regional. He broke away from the field about half-way through the race and never looked back. He ran his best race by about 20 seconds."

"The state final was disappointing for Timothy, but he remained a great sport, offering no excuses. He vowed to run better the next time. I was very proud of his effort to finish. It was inspiring. He is a class act."

Brandon Grysko, Soph., Liv. Churchill: Grysko finished 55th at the D-1 state meet (16:28) and third at the regional (16:09). A scholar-athlete, Grysko earned a second-place showing in the Livonia City Meet (17:39) and a seventh-place finish at the Monroe Jefferson Invitational.

"Brandon is a very intense competitor," McGreevy said. "He had a tremendous freshman year in both cross country and track and expectations were high for his second season. He was having a very solid season, but he didn't really explode until the regional at Schoolcraft. His charge toward the finish line was like William

"More importantly, he matured as a leader, doing the little things that garnered respect from his teammates and his coach. He has a great future in front of him."

Patrick Slavens, Jr., Plymouth: The two-time state qualifier placed fourth at the Division 1 regional meet in a personal-best time of 16:13, which is a school record. He followed that up with a solid finish in the state meet, finishing among the top 30 juniors.

"Patrick is a great athlete who comes on strong when the team needs him," said Plymouth coach Lee Shaw. "He has made the state meet twice as an individual and, hopefully, he will lead the team to the state meet next year."

Anthony Scaparo, Jr., Plymouth: Scaparo had a banner junior season, winning the City Meet (17:08) and the Early Bird Invitational. He finished second in two other meets and finished third at the Wayne County Championships. He's a two-time state qualifier.

"Anthony is a good kid who I expect to see bigger and better things from next season," Shaw said.

Jimmy Walsh, Sr., Salem: A captain, Walsh was a pace-setter during his senior season, finishing 79th at the D1 state meet, 10th at the regional and 14th at the WLAA meet. He was a three-time state qualifier and four-year letter-winner.

"Jimmy is a hard worker and has been our number-two runner the past two years," said Baker. "He has been a great leader for our young runners."

Sean Dillon, Sr., Plymouth: A rare two-sport athlete, Dillon was also a big contributor to the Wildcats' soccer program. He improved his time in practically every race this season, setting a personal-best of 16:38. His top finishes were ninth at the Wayne County Championships, fifth in the WLAA Western Division Jamboree, 10th at the WLAA Conference meet and 19th at the D1 regional competition.

"Sean was a great addition to the team," said Shaw. "He is a great leader, great runner and great person. I wish he had come out for the team before this year — it would have been scary to see what he could have done."

Joe Varilone, Soph., Liv. Churchill: The second-year performer put up impressive numbers, finishing 20th at the Wayne County Championships (17:15), 16th at the WLAA meet (17:00), 20th at the D1 regional (16:54) and 42nd at the Ann Arbor Gabriel Richard Invitational (17:48).

"The first few weeks of the season, Joe was very solid, but not spectacular," said McGreevy. "But as the season progressed, he started beating runners who had bested him earlier. He was Churchill's 'Mr. Steady'."

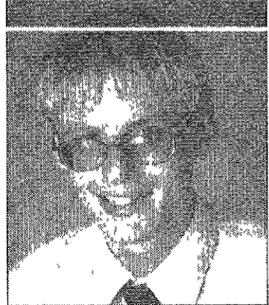

"He is a scholar-athlete with a tremendous upside. He works very hard and because he is so quiet, he sometimes is overlooked, but not anymore. He will be one of our anchors for next year's team. Joe had a very nice rookie season."

Andrew Cassidy, Jr., Salem: The second-year runner ran like a veteran, posting a 22nd-place finish in the Wayne County meet, a 15th-place in the D1 state meet and a 16th-place in the regional.

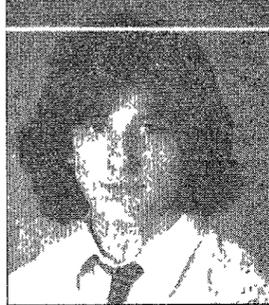

"This is Andrew's second year running cross country," Baker said. "He's getting better every year. I'm looking forward to great things from him next year."

Salem coach Baker always finds a way

STAFF WRITER

Salem boys cross country coach Geoff Baker said he developed the training method he has utilized over the past 20 years through "trial and error."

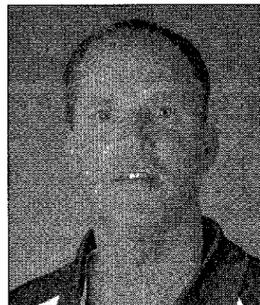

Judging by Baker's impressive tenure as the Rocks' mentor, the errors have been few.

This year was no different than Baker's first 19 as coach — it was stocked with success. The Rocks finished second at the Western Lakes Activities Association meet, third at the Division 1 regional and 22nd at the Division 1 state meet.

For his efforts with the Salem cross country program this fall, Baker has been selected Observerland Coach of the Year by the Observer sports staff.

"This year's group of guys made up one of those teams that is just great to be around," Baker said. "They always came to practice ready to work and they never shied away from anything. Everything they did, they did it the best they could do."

Baker deflected much of the credit for his team's success to his runners' strong work ethic. "I've always told my runners that the motivation to succeed has to come from within themselves," Baker emphasized. "I tell them you can't do it for me, for their parents or their girlfriends — they have to do it for themselves. This is a self-motivated sport because they're the ones that have to run all of those miles in order to get good."

Baker played football during the four autumns he attended Salem in the early- to mid-80s. After graduation, he was approached by Salem Athletic Director Gary Balconi about taking the reins of the Rocks' cross country program.

"I still thank Gary to this day for giving me this job because I don't know where I'd be without it," said Baker, who has coached 12 All-State runners at Salem. "The person I learned the most from during my first few years was Farmington coach Jerry Young. When we took our teams to camps together, I'd ask him a lot of questions because he had built such a successful program."

"One thing I've learned over the years is that you never stop learning."

An intangible achievement proved to be the most memorable part of the season as far as Baker was concerned.

"I think the highlight was seeing everybody on the team get better week, after week, after week," he said. "I told them that if we could get seven runners to run 17 minutes or better, they'd be the best team ever at Salem, or at least since I've been coaching. They're really worked hard to try to exceed that goal."

The Rocks also excelled in the classroom this fall, compiling an All-State caliber 3.73 team grade-point average.

Ex-teammates enjoy coaching

STAFF WRITER

Two of the 32 Michigan high school football teams still alive in the playoffs have more than success in common.

Both Canton and Division 3 Haslett are wreaking havoc on opposing defenses with the same difficult-to-figure-out full-house, Wing-T offense.

And both teams' coaches — Tim Baechler and Charlie Otlewski — were teammates on the Adrian College football team from 1985-87.

"I had to remind Tim what the snap count was when we walked up to the line of scrimmage before every play," revealed Otlewski, who played running back at Adrian. "Tim was a tight end and he always remembered his pass routes and blocking assignments, but he'd always ask me what the cadence was."

"It was a superstitious thing I did with Charlie," Baechler remembered, chuckling. "When we were jogging up to the line, I'd say, 'One or two? Sings or dubs?' Even though I knew what the count was, it got to where if I didn't ask him, I didn't feel good about what was going to happen on the next play."

During Baechler and Otlewski's collegiate days, Adrian employed the Delaware Wing-T offense, which explains partly why the two successful coaches run similar, run-oriented offenses.

"It's nice to have someone I can talk to about the offense because there aren't that many teams that run it," Otlewski said, referring to his semi-regular phone conversations with Baechler. "We problem-solve with each other."

"We call each other every once in a while and talk about different situations we've encountered," Baechler said. "There's always a defense we'll come across that we haven't seen before. It's nice to have somebody who knows what kind of things you're facing."

Otlewski joked that he got grief from Baechler recently when he decided to add another element to the Wing-T attack.

"Tim ostracized me when I told him we were going to add some spread to our offense," Otlewski said. "We probably only run it 25 percent of the time, but I figure if it makes the opponent have to use 25 percent of their preparation time on it, it makes the 75 percent we run out of the 'T' that much more effective."

Otlewski, whose Vikings will square off against Farmington Hills Harrison in a D-3 semifinal game Saturday, said he has no desire to face Canton's almost-mirror-image offense in a regular-season game.

"Maybe in a seven-on-seven game in the summer when it's more relaxed," Otlewski said. "But not during the season. A couple of years ago we played Belding after Irv Sigler left. It was like playing against ourselves."

With victories Saturday in their respective semi-final games, Canton and Haslett will have one more thing in common — they'll be playing Nov. 26 for state titles at Ford Field.

It would be a showcase day for the Wing-T.

And a bigger day for a couple of former Adrian College teammates.

Monroe scrimmage Brighton because we were playing Monroe in the first game. After I watched Monroe, I told the other coaches, 'We can't play with them using the 'T,' so we put in the full-house 'T' the next week. It was like — boom! — the kids picked it up right away and we've used it ever since."

ON THE REBOUND

The Chiefs finished 3-6 in Baechler's first season, a marked improvement over the one-win season the team suffered through in 1997.

The rise to respectability continued in Baechler's second year when Canton surged to a 4-2 start. However, the resurgence hit a bump in the road when the Chiefs fell to Farmington Hills Harrison in Week 7, 35-0.

"Our next game was against John Glenn, which had lost to Salem the week before that," Baechler recalled. "Someone told me that (John Glenn coach) Chuck Gordon had only stopped watching a game film half-way through twice in his entire career, and one of the two times was the Salem game that year. I heard he was so mad, he threw the tape against the wall and it broke in half."

"Well, Glenn came out and hammered us (40-13). We lost to Salem the next week (28-7) and finished 4-5."

Canton scored a total of 154 points in nine games that season. In just three playoff games this season, the Chiefs have scored 153.

"After we finished 4-5 my second season, I was really down and feeling sorry for myself," Baechler said. "I was putting everything I had into turning the program around, but it wasn't happening."

"When my wife (Julie) saw how down I was, she said, 'If you're not tough enough, then quit.' That made me mad and I thought to myself, 'Okay, this is it.' I was going to give it everything I had for one more year, and if I didn't get it done, I was done."

"I had a parents meeting before the next season and I wasn't very pleasant. I laid it all on the line. I told them we were going to do it my way and if they didn't like it, tough."

Again, Canton started 4-2. Again, they suffered a Week 7 meltdown, losing to Northville, 41-21.

"The Saturday morning after the Northville game, I lost it," Baechler said. "I got up in front of the team and said, 'I've had it with you guys. It's over. I'm done.' It was pretty emotional."

"That's when two of my players — Dan Bak and Dan Farkas — came up to me and said, 'You're not quitting because we're not quitting.'"

TURNING POINT

Canton pounded Farmington and Salem the following two weeks to finish 6-3 and qualify for the playoffs for the first time since 1990. The inspired Chiefs' roll continued in the playoffs as they downed Belleville and Ann Arbor — and before falling to Easton in a regional final.

If there was a do-or-die turning point in the Baechler regime, it was the end of the 2000 season when the dedicated coach's blood, sweat and tears started paying dividends.

"I had a strong group of seniors that year who really bought into what I was trying to do," Baechler said.

Since the 2000 season, Canton has registered a 39-6 record and is set to play in its first Division 1 semi-final playoff game Saturday, which more than answers the question that appeared in the Observer a few weeks after he was hired to turn a struggling football program into a winner.

Canton, Macomb Dakota exhibit contrasting offensive styles

STAFF WRITER

Saturday's Division I semi-final football game between Canton and Macomb Dakota will pit two teams with contrasting offensive styles.

Canton (10-2) prefers to push the ball up and down the field with its punishing full-house, Wing-T attack while the 10-2 Cougars would rather wing it behind talented junior quarterback James Stallons, who has thrown for over 1,900 yards this season.

"We actually ran a version of the Wing-T offense last year," revealed Dakota coach Mike Giannone. "It wasn't a full-house like Canton runs, but there was a lot of ball-faking. This year, I knew we had a quarterback coming in who could throw the ball, so we decided to adjust the offense around his strengths. The kids have done a nice job with it."

Giannone said the experience of facing the Wing-T in practice last year may help his team to some degree when it faces the Chiefs Saturday afternoon.

"Maybe a little bit," Giannone said. "But, obviously, we're not going to be able to emulate it in practice anywhere near as well as the way Canton executes it in the games.

"How do you stop it? No one knows because no one's been able to do it yet. They have four running backs who run extremely hard, a very good quarterback and two tight ends who can get up the field.

"The most astounding thing to me about Canton is that they go for it a lot on fourth down, which means you have to stop them four times from getting 10 yards. It will be a challenge."

The Cougars advanced to Saturday's 1 p.m. game at Troy Athens High School by rallying from a 13-6 halftime deficit to knock off Lake Orion, 27-13, Friday night in a regional final contest. One week earlier, Dakota surprised unbeaten and highly ranked Sterling Heights Stevenson.

Canton defeated Detroit Cody, 63-34, in a district final before eliminating Detroit King, 48-21, last week.

"Dakota has five kids on offense who are very skilled athletes," said Canton coach Tim Baechler, sizing up the Cougars. "Their quarterback is 6-4 and has a good arm. They also have two good receivers, a big tight end who can catch the ball and a running back who also plays receiver. But I think their real strength is their offensive line. They're big and skilled. They run block well and do a nice job pass blocking.

"Defensively, I don't know what they'll run. I do know they're well-coached and they execute. From what I've seen, their players are usually where they're supposed to be on every play."

Junior Gary Gay is the Cougars' top rushing threat. He's amassed over 1,300 total yards through the first 12 games — approximately 1,000 on the ground. Stallons' favorite receiver is three-year varsity player Marcus Lancaster.

Defensively, Dakota is paced by defensive end John Stipek, who is being recruited by Toledo, Central Michigan and Bowling Green, according to Giannone.

Stipek will be tested by Canton's talented stable of running backs, including Deshon McClendon, Andy Rossow, Matt Sweda and Dalton Walser. The Chiefs have ground out more than 400 yards rushing three consecutive weeks behind the offensive line of Andy LaFata, Mike Edwards, Ryan Jonik, Joe Zujaj, Fred Keena, Billy Turner and Brandon Fender.

Dakota runs a mostly two-platoon system, meaning players only play offense or defense,

"Our only two-way guy is Stipek," Giannone offered. "We like to play as many kids as we can. It's good for the team's morale because more kids are involved in the game."

Giannone said at least one person at Saturday's game will have divided loyalties.

"Our former principal, Mike Bender, is now in charge of the secondary-education program for the Plymouth-Canton schools," Giannone said. "I'm sure he'll be pulling for Canton, but, in a way, it will be a no-lose situation for him."

READY FOR EVERYTHING

What goes into preparing for a state high school semi-final playoff football game? More than you might think.

Following is a rough outline of the schedule Canton's coaching staff will utilize leading up to Saturday's Division I semi-final football game against Macomb Dakota:

■ Friday, Nov. 11, 11 p.m.-1 a.m. — The coaches meet at head coach Tim Baechler's house for a late dinner and to watch film from that night's 48-21 victory over Detroit King.

■ Saturday, Nov. 12, 9 a.m.-11:30 a.m. — Members of the coaching staff go over film with players before reviewing how well team did on its weekly list of offensive, defensive and special teams goals. Players will then jog and lift.

■ Sunday, Nov. 13, 7 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. — The coaching staff meets at Baechler's house to watch Macomb Dakota's game film. One assistant coach from each team usually meet on Saturday to exchange the films.

■ Monday, Nov. 14, 3 p.m.-5:50 p.m. — Practice at the P-CEP football stadium.

■ Monday, Nov. 14, 7 p.m.-8:30 p.m. — Defensive backs meet at coach Dave Smith's house to watch Dakota film. Defensive front seven meet at coach Jeff Powers' house to watch Dakota film.

■ Tuesday, Nov. 15, 3 p.m.-5:50 p.m. — Practice at P-CEP football stadium.

■ Wednesday, Nov. 16, 3 p.m.-5:50 p.m. — Practice at P-CEP football stadium.

■ Thursday, Nov. 17, 3 p.m.-5:50 p.m. — Practice at the P-CEP football stadium.

■ Friday, Nov. 18, 3 p.m.-5:40 p.m. — Practice at the P-CEP football stadium.

■ Saturday, Nov. 19, 8:45 a.m. — The team will meet for breakfast before getting taped and dressed for game.

■ Saturday, 11 a.m. — Team bus leaves for Troy Athens High School.

■ Saturday, 1 p.m. — Kickoff

Joey Harrington: Lions quarter

It's a shame that people subscribe to the adage that "nice guys finish last."

It certainly isn't always true in sports, but in this town, we've had a number of guys who might be fine gents with whom to have a beer, play some pool, and if you do partake in such activities, hunt. However, that doesn't mean you'd want them as the Lions quarterback, Red Wings goaltender, Pistons point guard, or Tigers starting pitcher. Sometimes, those "nice guys" just aren't good enough.

Detroit is a pretty accepting sports town. I know it's hard for someone like Joey Harrington to believe that, but he's an exception to the rule because of how bad his predecessors were at his position with his franchise.

There's a long lifespan of Red Wing goalies, Tim Cheveldae will tell you, who know how it feels to have the masses lining up to help you pack for your one-way trip out of Motown.

Perhaps if we'd had a Boomer Esiason, a Jim Kelly, a Warren Moon, or a Dan Fouts show up eight Sundays every fall at the Silverdome and provide us with some modicum of consistent quarterbacking, even if it was stored in the back of our memory banks, we'd be easier on the Harringtons, the Batches, the Mitchells, the Peetes, and the Hipples of the world. But then they wouldn't be our lovable Lions, would they?

Now back to Harrington. There's every chance he plays out his Detroit Lions career over the remaining seven games. Clearly, as Coach Mariucci has stated, if Jeff Garcia gets healthy, he will play.

Garcia's ability to make plays out of nothing was impressive in Cleveland. His ability to give a crucial game away in overtime against the Bears was not. It's enough to make even the most pro-Garcia (and anti-Harrington) Lion fan skeptical that he can take this team the rest of the way on a gimpy ankle and win five of the next seven games.

UPHILL BATTLE

Yes, you heard me - five of seven. An 8-8 record won't cut it now for the Lions in the NFC North, where the supposedly lowly Chicago Bears have peeled off five straight wins and own the tiebreaker over Detroit. Even if the Bears were to collapse down the stretch and sputter to a 2-5 record, the Lions have to do the exact opposite and go 5-2 to win the division. And with visits to Dallas, Pittsburgh and Green Bay coming up, not to mention

rbback is class act under siege

ome affairs with Atlanta and Cincinnati, that's pretty unlikely to happen with either quarterback.

Harrington has surprised even his biggest detractors. Some weren't sure he'd be able to focus and give 100 percent if called back to duty. He's told the assembled media that the criticism won't break him. That the benching wouldn't change his team-first philosophy. That he supports Coach Mariucci's decision-making process, even though it's obvious to all that Mariucci hasn't returned the favor but rarely in three seasons now.

Harrington hasn't gone into the tank, and perhaps you can argue he didn't have time to pull away from the table, cash in his chips and leave the casino. But what he showed Sunday with a consistent and winning style of mistake-free football against the Cardinals was more than anyone expected. He'd hit an all-time low in a football career that in his mind and heart, began from the time he could throw a football. Yes, I know it was against the Cardinals. However, give Harrington credit for providing a pulse of life on Sunday in a dreary season so far.

If the wins get to be few and far between for him over the last seven games, as I suspect it will be for either Harrington or Garcia under center, at least we know Harrington will be giving 100 percent, though he knows he'll be in another uniform next year. Without question, that's more than we expected.

ROOTING FOR JOEY

I'm still skeptical Harrington can be a very good NFL quarterback. There just isn't enough that he does well. But I will root for him. He's one of the good guys and perhaps the confidence early in his career was mistaken as arrogance, and his team-first belief was shadowed by being too positive after disappointing defeat after defeat.

I do know this, though. And feel free to play along at home. Ask yourself how many NFL teams if he were released by the Lions today, might see him as an upgrade both for now and the long-term future of their football club. Miami? Arizona? Baltimore? New Orleans? Maybe even the New York Jets, if Chad Pennington can't recover from two season-ending injuries in under 10 months.

The bottom line is Harrington will get another chance in the NFL. It may not actually be his skill and execution that earns that chance. Harrington's poise, maturity, and composure far beyond that of the average 27-year old will grant him that opportunity.

League membership not necessary for bowlers

If you enjoy the sport of bowling without being a member of a league, you are not alone.

There are approximately 70 million casual bowlers in the U.S. and that number far outweighs those who are league bowlers.

You don't have to belong to a bowling league to enjoy the sport. Just going out with friends to bowl can still be competitive and a whole lot of fun as well. The bowling centers welcome you with open arms and it can even make your casual bowling a much more pleasant experience - if you just ask.

If you have small children with you, they can set up adjacent lanes for bumper bowling, based on availability at the time you are there.

The counter person will provide you with a printout of your games if you just ask. The printout will enable you to review the games and see what you did, frame by frame and have a record of your total scores.

If you happen to get lucky and bowl a 300 game, your printout shows proof that you did it even though you will not get a ring from US Bowling Congress.

You can even download a page on your home computer to keep track of all your bowling scores and thus be able to compute your average your-

Finding a good time to go open bowling is somewhat tighter now during the regular season, but if you check with the bowling center, it can show you the scheduled league days. And there are bound to be some prime times when there are a few lanes available especially on weekends.

If you have any problems setting up the automatic scoring, the counter person will be glad to show you how.

Rental shoes are readily available for a small fee and there are always house balls that you can use at no charge.

Anyone who goes bowling should have a fitted ball of their own rather than use a house ball. It may seem to fit O.K. because the fingers all went in. But unless a ball fits properly, you cannot attain the full performance you would like.

You do not have to spend a fortune on a ball, leave that to the big shooters. Every pro shop can fit you within a smaller budget, and the manufacturers all put out a line of economy balls that work just fine.

A poorly fitted ball may give you blisters or sores because you have to squeeze it too much (just to hold on).

The pro shop will also make sure that you get the correct weight ball for your physical characteristics.

The lanes are there to be enjoyed by all, whether leagues or open bowlers.

Bowling is America's most popular participation sport by far and is relatively inexpensive when compared to most other physical activities.

Someone I recently met asked me, "Isn't bowling a dying sport?"

I replied to the contrary because it is still growing, with more youth bowlers than ever. There's also better coaching.

Bowling centers have been upgraded and are more family-oriented.

In addition, there are new organizations such as the US Bowling Congress with over 3 million certified league bowlers as members.

Leagues remain the backbone of bowling, and most of the casual bowlers who give league bowling a try are going to be in it for the duration.

There are more innovations and promotions than ever, along with a clean, wholesome atmosphere wherever you may bowl.

Yes, bowling is alive and well, especially in metro Detroit.

The Sunday Youth Classic is one of this area's finer youth travel leagues.

The kids have a great time and learn to play the game the right way thanks to the efforts of Ed Wright of Farmington Hills, Bob Black and others.

Marcus Allen, 16, of Highland Park, has just rolled this season's first 300 game at Plaza Lanes in Plymouth.

Maybe Marcus inherits his talent from his mother, Carmen Allen, one of this area's elite woman bowlers and a member of the Greater Detroit Bowling Hall of Fame.

If you have a pretty good youth bowler in the family, the SYC is the breeding ground for future stars in the sport of bowling.

For information on the SYC, call Ed Wright at (248) 477-5047.

Roy Biggs of Canton rolled his 10th career 300 game Oct. 19 in the Wednesday Men's Senior Classic at Mayflower Lanes in Redford.

Biggs is first vice-president GDBA, and rest assured, he will be receiving his award ring on time.

Al Harrison is a resident of Livonia, a life member of the US Bowling Congress and a director with the Greater Detroit Bowling Association. He can be reached at (248) 477-1839.

Madonna men's basketball team retools without Noel Emenhiser

STAFF WRITER

This figures to be a new-look season for Madonna University. First of all, the Crusaders' men's basketball team lost team captain and MU all-time points leader Noel Emenhiser to graduation. "We miss Noel, there's no doubt about it," said Madonna's second-year head coach Chuck Henry. "But that's what you coach for, to see kids move on. He's done that (now playing in a European league) and now we have a new group."

As much as Emenhiser's graduation leaves a huge void, Henry said he likes the depth and talent of the 2005-06 squad enough that more than 10 players will probably see significant playing time.

Of course, it remains to be seen whether this winter's mix of eight returnees and several newcomers will lead to improvement in the Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference. Last season, MU finished a disappointing 9-21.

The Crusaders split their first two games, with 12 players getting a good share of minutes. According to Henry, that is likely how the year will proceed - with guys earning court time in games based on how well and how hard they perform in practices. The starting lineup is subject to change, in other words.

"I've always been that type of coach," he explained. "I like to base the starting lineup on who performs in practice. We're trying to figure out which five function best together and who functions well off the bench."

SEVERAL WEAPONS

Although the Crusaders do not have a huge front court (the exception being 6-10 senior center Antoine Stewart, a reserve to start the season), the team boasts enough offensive weapons to put pressure on their opponents.

The MU backcourt, in particular, is one that could be dangerous.

The captain, senior guard Joe Calhoun, is expected to lead by example with what Henry called "a good, overall game. He is a good three-point shooter and defender, one of our hardest workers."

Another transferee, junior point guard Adam Kerfoot

(Kalamazoo Valley CC), will score and distribute the ball with the best of them, Henry noted. Kerfoot started the season well with a 14-point outing.

Meanwhile, a particularly intriguing player is 6-6 junior swing man Doug Creighton, a transfer student from Henry Ford Community College.

"He gives us some size, he's very talented," Henry said. "He can shoot from the perimeter and penetrate. He could play up front if needed."

Starting the season up front is 6-3 sophomore forward D.J. Bridges (Canton) and 6-4 sophomore forward Mike Rashad (Wayne Memorial).

Bridges saw time off the bench during his freshman season, but is now ready to take the next step.

"He's just a rugged worker," Henry said. "He's undersized in the paint, but he has a nose for the ball and is a strong rebounder."

On Tuesday, in MU's home opener against Marygrove, Bridges scored 16 points.

Expected to work the boards is Rashad, who led the team in the first two games with an average of nine rebounds.

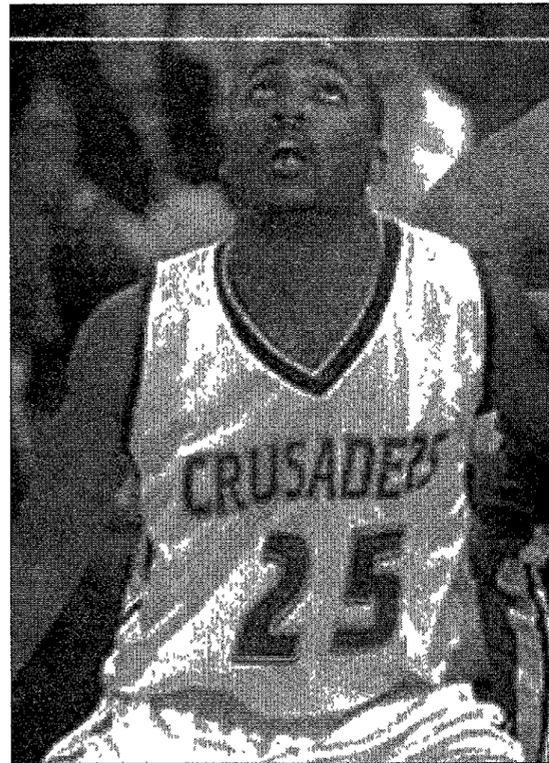

"Mike has very quick moves in the (low) post and is an excellent jumper," Henry said.

AREA PLAYERS IN MIX

Several other players with Observerland links are in the mix for regular minutes.

Sophomore point guard Charlie Henry (Canton, Agape Christian) started six games in 2004-05 and will help the Crusaders with his ability to make the trey, handle the basketball or dish it off.

Playing from a wing spot will be Livonia Stevenson alum Keith Hearn, a 6-1 sophomore

MU SPORTS INFORMATION

Madonna University sophomore forward Mike Rashad (Wayne Memorial) is one of several Observerland areas who will have key roles for the Crusaders this season.

who ran cross country this fall and "is very athletic and can run and jump."

Junior guard-forward Nathan Wade, who graduated from Wayne Memorial, is described by the coach as "another strong defender" while Wayne native and Agape Christian grad Jordan Napier (6-3, 215 sophomore forward) brings a physical presence and nifty outside shot.

"Jordan can also step out and hit a three," Henry said.

Other backups include senior guard Danny Peters, junior guard Quincy Bell and 6-5 junior forward Derrick Mudri.

Peters is the team's best penetrating guard, noted Henry while Bell plays excellent defense. As for Mudri, he could be the wild card as to how far the Crusaders go this season.

Mudri was a second-leading scorer and rebounder in 2004-05, but has yet to join this year's team because he is a member of Madonna's men's soccer team (playing in the regionals).

"We're looking forward to getting Derrick back to basketball when soccer's over," Henry said. "Based on last year's performance, he's certainly going to be vying for a starter's position and playing time."

Henry said yet another factor in looking at the current team is the availability of big-man Stewart, who tallied six points and five boards in 15 minutes Tuesday night.

"We have good balance, good depth, we're quicker and more athletic," Henry summarized. "And we have a big player in Antoine (Stewart) that we didn't have last year."

Real estate draws professionals from varied

walks of life

BY JULIE BROWN
STAFF WRITER

Realtors often come into the field with work experience in other professions. Phyllis Pulty, for example, started with the health department in Detroit as a young woman and left years later as supervising housing inspector for the city.

"Most people are from a different field," said Pulty, a Realtor with Century 21 Town & Country of Plymouth. Top sellers in her office include folks from teaching, management/business and other walks of life.

Some people do start out in real estate at 18 or 19 and are successful, added Pulty, who's been in real estate since 1991. She found her earlier experience helpful in her current career.

"I was always dealing with the public," she said. People skills, computer skills and more follow from work in other fields.

Deborah Falzon started working in 1986 in the plumbing field, where she was an office manager. Falzon, now a Realtor with Century 21 Today of West Bloomfield, married a plumber who started his own business, and she worked behind the scenes there.

"We ended up with two companies," said Falzon, who has a bachelor's degree in marketing. One handles new construction by word of mouth, while the other offers residential service. It includes service technicians and advertising, and Falzon helped by training technicians and customer service staffers.

She recalled the impact of the 9/11 attacks, and around that time a longtime girlfriend suggested she consider getting a real estate license. "Love it, absolutely love it," Falzon said of her new field. "It's the hardest job I've done in my life."

She likes matching people with homes where they can start a new life.

Running a business gave Falzon insight into her real estate work, where she's an independent contractor and gets out of it what she puts in. She'd encourage others to follow her career path if they're hard-working and self-motivated.

"You have to be able to follow up with people and be very organized," said Falzon, adding the field's not good for those who wait for instructions on the job.

Corinne Grant of Plymouth Township, who now teaches at Schoolcraft College, worked some 20 years in real estate and enjoyed it. She went back into teaching for more regular hours so she could spend time with her family.

Grant, who teaches College Reading and Critical Thinking as an adjunct professor at the Livonia campus, had started out as a high school teacher. She's found her background helpful.

"I think everything you've done in life helps you with the next stage," she said. The people skills she learned as a teacher helped her walk people through the process in real estate.

"I loved real estate," she said. The work got busier and she found she had less time for family. "So then I decided to go back to teaching."

In real estate, it could be you'd work with a customer for a couple of months; he or she would be ready to buy or sell perhaps just when you wanted to travel with family, she said.

Grant found some in real estate didn't realize the hours that would be involved, that there would be no regular income at the start, or fringe benefits.

"Sometimes it works and sometimes it doesn't," said Grant, who enjoyed the variety of people she met in real estate.

Five Ways to Make Your Life Easier AND MORE FUN

1. Choose a spacious new brownstone with volume ceilings and room for everything.
2. Live near downtown Plymouth and walk to shops, restaurants, and festivals.
3. Give up your snowblower and enjoy the pleasures of maintenance-free living.
4. Save money with low Plymouth Township taxes—use your savings for a vacation.
5. Spend your summer weekends at the farmer's market or in Hines Park, rather than mowing a lawn.

Moulding makes your house a home

Decorative hardwood moulding is suitable for staining, clear coating or painting, to accentuate and highlight any home's decor. Hardwood moulding is highly decorative and comes in many different embossed patterns, sizes and profiles. The embossing creates the appearance of hand-carved moulding and the natural beauty of hardwood creates a sense of style and warmth. Matching corner blocks, plinth blocks and rosettes not only complement hardwood moulding, they eliminate coping and miter cuts to make installation simple and worry-free. You can even use matching, decorative appliques in conjunction with this moulding to put a more personal touch on your trim.

Architectural moulding is a premium, polystyrene or polyurethane moulding with large profiles that mimic the look of built-up moulding. Architectural moulding will not warp, rot or split. It is a low maintenance material that saws, mills and works just like wood. It is lighter than hardwood for easier handling and due to its light weight, workability and stability, architectural moulding is usually easier to install than traditional wood moulding. There are matching inside and outside corner blocks available to make installing the crown moulding even easier. The moulding comes ready to finish, so no priming is required. It can be painted or stained to match any color scheme or style. You will also find matching ceiling medallions and even wall niches to add the final touch to your trim. ## New senior director of iCap Realty

Robert W. Leonard has been named senior director of iCap Realty, a growing national mortgage banking firm. Leonard, an experienced member of the financial community, is anticipated to further accelerate iCap's growth and help lead in efforts to double its revenue stream over the next five years.

Leonard has almost 25 years experience in banking and structured finance including senior positions with Michigan National Bank (now LaSalle Bank), Ford Motor Credit and Comerica Bank.

Prior to joining iCap, Leonard was a principal in several structured finance firms. He previously managed the Private Banking and Personal Trust departments at Michigan National Bank, providing loan and investment products and services to high-net-worth individuals throughout Michigan. At Ford Credit, Leonard made equity investments in third-party leveraged lease financings, particularly in the aircraft and rail markets, while at Comerica Bank, Leonard served as a lending officer, calling on commercial, financial and governmental entities through the Asia/Pacific region.

Leonard earned his bachelor of arts in finance at Michigan State University and his master of business administration at the University of Michigan. He lives in Grosse Pointe Farms with his wife, Nancy, and three sons, William, Matthew and David.

Canadian developer acquires Bob-Lo Island

Bob-Lo Island, has been acquired by Amico Properties Inc. of Old Castle (Windsor), Ontario, Canada. Bob-Lo Island was acquired as a result of a bankruptcy from the previous owner, John Oram.

The island will remain a residential community but will be positioned as a high-end marina resort community and will be developed under the name of Bob-Lo Development Inc. The 272-acre island is part of Amherstburg, Ontario, and is nestled between the shorelines of Canada and the United States. At the heart of community amenities will be a new marina featuring 500 boat slips, many for larger cruising boats as well as, a yacht and tennis club and a private beach.

Buying generally better way to go than renting

To rent or to buy? That is the question. Candidly, it's rarely a good idea to buy real estate if you would be doing so amidst a troubled relationship with a person with whom you would be making the purchase. Also, unless somebody else is paying for your mortgage costs or you can get a reasonable "no cost" mortgage, you should not purchase property as a primary residence if you will be in the property for less than a year.

Timothy Phillips

Now, if your excuse for not buying a home does not resemble one of the above reasons, you are likely not taking action due to a lack of knowledge, a fear of the unknown, or both. Here are a few reasons to overcome your fears and to get smart about buying a home.

Other reasons to rent a place instead of buying one might include job or career instability, reasonable certainty of declining home values in your proposed purchase area, or sharply increasing personal expense projections without a corresponding increase to your income.

First, if you get a fixed-rate mortgage for your purchase, your payment will not increase with inflation as will your rent. Next, you will not be able to profit from appreciating real estate values if you always rent.

Not enough? Renting a home, regardless of how low the rental fees, yields you nothing for your "investment." Meanwhile, purchasing a home with "nothing down" yields an infinite return if the monthly payment is the same as your existing rent and your property value grows even a little bit.

Finally, because of the tax benefits of owning a home, a renter who pays $1,200 per month in rent can afford a mortgage payment of $1,600. Assuming the ex-renter is in a typical tax bracket for the purchase of that size home, about $400 of the monthly $1,600 will come back as cash at tax return time.

Today's TIMBIT! It's true that there are actually times when it's not a good idea to purchase real estate. However, unless you have a truly compelling reason not to buy a home, you are likely losing out to rent for a long term.

Lawyer's letter good start on maintenance

Q. We live in what is suppose to be a very nice sub but we have many neighbors who do not keep basic yard maintenance. We have our house for sale but do not have any takers but have received a few comments about the condition of the neighbor's property. Is there anything we can do? We have tried the homeowners association and township but nothing seems to work.

Real Estate Inquires

Robert Melsner

A. I would look at your deed restrictions to see what requirements there are on the part of the owners to maintain their premises. Normally, there is some requirement to maintain the yard and the aesthetic quality of the community. If the township and/or the association are not willing to do something, you may have recourse against the neighbor directly under the deed restrictions. You are best advised to consult with a knowledgeable real estate lawyer who can assist you in pursuing the issue against your neighbors, perhaps by simply writing a letter.

Q. A Community Association member is threatening to sue our association for prohibiting him from permanently keeping a motor home on his lot. He claims that the restriction prohibiting motor homes was unreasonable and is an unlawful "taking" of his property rights. Do you have any comments on his threatened litigation?

A. It all depends on your restrictions, but if your restrictions prohibit motor homes, he should not be able to be allowed to do so. In a similar case out of Indiana, the court ruled that the association had the authority to prohibit the member from permanently keeping a motor home on his lot. The court said that the rule in question in that case existed when the member joined the association, and that when he joined, he received a deed to his property in which he agreed to comply with the association's rules. The court also said that although the existing rule had been clarified after the member had joined the association, clarifying the rule isn't the same as passing a new rule. Finally, most importantly, the court added that the concept of unlawful "taking" of property does not apply to a voluntary Community Association. I would bring this to the attention of the association's attorney to assist him or her in defense of this claim.

TESTIMONIAL

The first time I advertised with the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers (in the Apartment Guide) I received so many phone calls and actual rentals I decided to run my ad for another six weeks. My account rep did a great job helping me with designing the ad.

Personalized Retention Initiatives Get Results

WORKWISE
by Mildred L. Culp

Declining demographics, increased employability options and the aging of the workforce are conspiring against employee retention. Health care may well have something to teach other industries about the success of personalized retention programs.

"There are definite advantages to more personalized retention initiatives," maintains David DeLong, a consultant in Concord, Mass., and researcher at MIT's AgeLab. "People develop loyalty to other people, not to some abstract organizational entity. If you want employees to stick around, they need to build strong, productive personal relationships with colleagues."

"But many managers feel pressured to invest in cost-efficient retention programs," he continues, "which don't provide the real benefits that would make employees want to stay. Retention efforts that try to leverage high-tech instead of high-touch are more likely to be seen as bureaucratic and irrelevant to the real needs of workers."

RETENTION LEADERS

Diana Halfer administers Clinical and Organizational Development at Children's Memorial Medical Center. This hospital, the largest of its kind in Illinois, is affiliated with Northwestern University and sees 94,000 patients annually. Since 2003, 320 novice (first-year) nurses have entered its 18-month R.N. internship program, designed to make staying with Children's attractive. First-year turnover fell 50 percent, which translates into $500,000 annual savings. Child Health Corporation of America, an alliance of hospitals, found Children's vacancy and turnover the lowest among 23 affiliates in 2004.

Clarian Health Partners Inc., in Indianapolis, is a private nonprofit comprehensive health center seeing more than 954,000 patients annually. It is a single hospital combining three hospitals, Methodist, Indiana University and Riley (pediatric). Through its Destination Clarian Program, begun in 2002, 19 of 21 immigrant workers referred by Goodwill Industries of Central Indiana continue on the job. One left because of transportation problems; another, to take a higher-paying job. Six have been promoted.

PERSONAL ATTENTION

Children's Halfer says that the three areas to focus upon in retaining nurses are providing competitive compensation, as much schedule control as possible and career development. Her program is structured. "The nursing preceptor, who may be from a different unit or department, has the greatest impact on their careers," Halfer states. "This person mentors, working side-by-side with you, helping you become acquainted with the job and the flow of care."

"If I had limited monies and needed to make one major investment," she adds, "it would be investing in that role and supporting those nurses, because teaching someone new and managing their own patient care is a heavy responsibility and can be a stressor. (They receive a differential.) It seems to be the key role to help connect them." Fixed costs of $125,000 per year cover the program's coordination and specialized training. One retained nurse translates into $40,000 in savings. An equally significant outcome is that the program promotes continuity in relationships with patients and family.

Children's also established discussion groups comprised of nine to 10 nurses led by an experienced nurse and a chaplain or hospital social worker. Novice nurses bring up a wide range of issues, many work/life, that affect them personally, such as relocation, shiftwork, and life after school. Finally, these same nurses also observe the workflow in other areas of the hospital to meet other nurses and physicians face-to-face.

Destination Clarian Program assists immigrant workers referred to them by Goodwill Industries of Central Indiana, which trains them for up to eight weeks. As full-timers, they may contact Estela Martinez, skills trainer in Education Services, as long as they work there. She facilitates their adjustment by:

- encouraging them to increase their command of the language by using the computerized Ellis Program, with a headset;
- supporting them in working toward their pre-GED or GED;
- explaining orientation, benefits policies and procedures; and
- familiarizing them with community resources.

"This is an opportunity for them to develop themselves personally and professionally," she says.

Workers come from the Americas and two African countries. They contribute to operations from several directions (housekeeping, food service, cashing, patient transportation and facilities). Yolanda Vasquez, a two-year food service associate, was an assembly worker in New Jersey after emigrating from Guatemala. "She works on the serving line at Clarian," Martinez explains, "where she's required to speak the language. Thousands of people go by in one meal."

Yolando Vasquez says, "I'm happy - they pay me for learning English."

"I'm happy," Vasquez says, "because I'm full-time and they help me. I take classes in English. Now I understand more. They pay me for learning English."

The 2006 Scion xB

Thursday DriveTime

BY DALE BUSS

There's an easy way to tell whether the appeal of a car is design-driven: Without knowing anything else about the vehicle, it's something that you just know you've got to drive.

I felt that way a long time ago about the Scion xB, one of the first models that came forth a couple of years ago out of Toyota's new "youth" brand. Somewhere else, I once described xB as resembling "a shoebox with a snout," and indeed perhaps there never has been a boxier mass-market vehicle than xB. The old Land Rover SUVs might run a close second, but it would be a lot easier to see a genetic link between xB and your typical panel-covered delivery van.

The xB's "differentness" is exaggerated by the fact that Scion's other two models to date, xA and tC, are innovative in design but decidedly closer to the mainstream than their sibling. The xA resembles a shrunken Ford Focus or Honda Insight, while tC is a small, fastbacked coupe. By contrast, the Japanese predecessor of xB was named BB, and appropriately nicknamed "black box."

Thus, xB is so quirky that, I suppose, it just demands to be experienced. And so finally, I have, in the form of a 2006 model in a pleasing, silvery color Scion called Thunder Cloud Metallic. And while xB's irreverently boxy design made it fun just to look at and get into, that very same shape caused some severe problems with drivability. More on that later.

First, back to the design. Not only is xB about as square an automobile as you're ever going to find. Its body also ranges extremely close to the ground meaning, among other things, that it is definitely not meant to go very far off-road - maybe onto the shoulder, but that's about it. This blockiness, expressed from the front end all the way through to the back of the car, gives xB a much more massive appearance than really is warranted by its actual size.

Its relatively tiny wheels further enhance the unmistakable statement made by this elongated cube chugging down the highway. Yet, among the many aftermarket accessories carried by Toyota dealers for Scion models are larger alloy wheels to replace xB's standard 15-inch models. After climbing inside, you recognize immediately that xB's iconoclastic nature continues on the interior. The first thing I noticed is that, while I expected because of the car's depth to dump my bottom into a seat that would have me relatively low to the road, the reality is that Scion sits you up high, giving you a bit of the positioning benefit that you would find in a small SUV. This design decision also enables xB drivers to take full advantage of the huge greenhouse that is afforded by the car's squared-off design and extremely vertical windshield.

For its optimal boxiness, you expect xB to provide plenty of interior room, and it doesn't disappoint. Front and rear passengers alike have plenty of space, with more than enough head and leg space for two six-footers in the rear. And while the rear bay has only 21.1 cubic feet of space that is accessed by the rear door, flip down the rear seats and xB's cargo space doubles.

Like Saturn's Ion, xB also moved the instrument cluster to a position slightly left of the center of the dashboard, part of an interior configuration that is meant to be a bit disquieting to Buick drivers. New for '06 is an available CD audio system with a plug-in for most digital music players, as well as a unit that adds dashboard control and program display for Apple iPod players.

XB also delivers a cool 30 mpg in the city and 34 mpg on the highway. Wrap that statistic in with its $16,500 suggested retail price, and there's certainly a lot to recommend this fun little package. But one big warning here: Don't expect xB to be a pocket rocket of any sort. In typical weather and routine uses, it feels underpowered with its 1.5-liter, four-cylinder, dual-overhead-cam, 16-valve engine; it's just hard to muster much get-up-and-go with this car. That alone may be disappointment enough for younger buyers who want the style but also the substance.

More troubling is how xB performs in the wind. On a recent very blustery November day, it was a truly white-knuckle experience to drive xB on I-75. The car's in-your-face lack of aerodynamics took a heavy toll on xB in those conditions, with the wind clearly resisting the up-and-down windshield, shaking around the boxy chassis, and laboring the insufficient engine even further.
